Next Uk Annual Report:

The Enlightened Shareholder Value Principle and Corporate Social Responsibility Taskin Iqbal, 2021-07-07 The Enlightened Shareholder Value principle and Corporate Social Responsibility are areas of increasing academic and research interest. However, discussions on the ESV principle in relation to CSR are very limited. This book provides a critical analysis of the impact of the concept of ESV embedded in the Companies Act 2006 on CSR and explores the scope for reform. Along with analysing existing empirical research, it presents the findings of an empirical study conducted to determine whether the concept of ESV is capable of promoting or assisting CSR. The book also examines whether implementing an ESV approach has had any impact on the CSR practices of multinational corporations that originate in the UK and operate in developing nations, as in order to assess whether the ESV principle links to CSR, both its domestic and international impact need to be considered. This analysis was undertaken through the lens of a case study on the ready-made garment industry in Bangladesh, with some focus on the Rana Plaza factory disaster. This study also assists in demonstrating the changes that need to be made to improve the current situation. Lastly, the book addresses the need for reform in the area and provides possible suggestions for reform. This interdisciplinary book will be of great interest to students and scholars of corporate law, corporate governance and business studies in general, as well as policymakers, NGOs and government departments in many countries around the world working in the fields of CSR, sustainability and global supply chains. What Next for Britain in the Middle East? Michael Stephens, Christopher Phillips, 2021-08-26 As the UK enters a period of intense public introspection in the wake of Brexit, this book takes on one of the key questions emerging from the divisive process: what is Britain's place in the world? The Middle East is one of the regions the UK has been most engaged in historically. This book assesses the drivers of foreign policy successes and failures and asks if there is a way to revitalise British influence in the region and if this is even desirable. The book analyses the values, trade and security concerns that drive the UK's foreign policy. There are separate chapters on the non-Arab powers: Israel, Turkey and Iran, as well as chapters on the Middle Eastern Arab states and regions including the Gulf, Iraq, Egypt and Syria and the Levant. The contributions are from leading specialists in the field: Rosemary Hollis, Michael Clarke, Ian Black, Bill Park, Christopher Phillips, Sanam Vakil, Michael Stephens and Louise Kettle. They each explain and re-assess the declining western influence and continued instability in the region and what this means for the UK's priorities and strategy towards the MENA. This is an essential book for policy makers, journalists and researchers focused on foreign policy towards the Middle East. H.M. Treasury annual report and accounts 2006-2007 Great Britain: H.M. Treasury, 2007-06-04 Dated June 2007. Supplied via TSO's On Demand Publishing Service. Channel 4 annual report Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee, 2010-12-14 For the past three years the Committee has conducted an annual evidence session with the Chairman and Chief Executive of Channel Four Television Corporation because, as a statutory corporation, it is accountable to Parliament for the delivery of its statutory remit. This year was a significant moment in Channel 4's history. The enactment of the Digital Economy Act at the end of the last Parliament amended the Communications Act 2003 to give Channel 4 a new and expanded remit and duties. A new management team was also put in place. The Committee agrees that the Digital Economy Act sets out sensible primary functions for Channel 4 to work towards and that Channel 4 has identified the correct method of self-reliance to deliver them. Aligning all its portfolio of channels in support of these primary functions will not be easy and it is essential that there is adequate external scrutiny of Channel 4's progress. The Committee welcomes recent draft guidance from Ofcom to establish a regime for establishing monitoring, reviewing and enforcing public service related obligations for Channel 4 across its network. However, Ofcom's ability to police Channel 4's new remit is limited and the Committee is not convinced that Channel 4 is sufficiently accountable for its output outside its core channel. The Committee questioned the new management team on its remuneration policy and the size of the final remuneration that outgoing Chief Executive Mr Duncan received. The Committee also urges Channel 4 to redouble its efforts to increase the proportion of UK originated commissioning from the nations and regions. It proposes that Channel 4 set a medium term target of 15% of network spend on originated programming coming from the nations.

Multilingual Text Analysis: Challenges, Models, And Approaches Marina Litvak, Natalia Vanetik, 2019-02-27. Text analytics (TA) covers a very wide research area. Its overarching goal is to discover and present knowledge, facts, rules and relationships that is otherwise hidden in the textual content. The authors of this book guide us in a quest to attain this knowledge automatically by applying various machine learning techniques. This book describes recent development in multilingual text analysis. It covers several specific examples of practical TA applications including their problem statements, theoretical background and implementation of the proposed solution. The reader can see which preprocessing techniques and text representation models were used, how the evaluation process was designed and implemented and how these approaches can be adapted to multilingual domains.

The Next Welfare State? Christopher Pierson, 2021-09-30. In this book, Chris Pierson argues that we will need to think quite differently about the British welfare state after COVID-19. He looks back to the welfare state's origins and development as well as forwards, unearthing some surprising solutions in unexpected places.

Access to Justice and Legal Aid Asher Flynn, Jacqueline Hodgson, 2017-01-26. This book considers how access to justice is affected by restrictions to legal aid budgets and increasingly prescriptive service guidelines. As common law jurisdictions, England and Wales and Australia share similar ideals, policies and practices but they differ in aspects of their legal and political culture, in the nature of the communities they serve and in their approaches to providing access to justice. These jurisdictions thus provide us with different perspectives on what constitutes justice and how we might seek to overcome the burgeoning crisis in unmet legal need. The book fills an important gap in existing scholarship as the first to bring together new empirical and theoretical knowledge, examining different responses to legal aid crises both in the domestic and comparative contexts across criminal, civil and family law. It achieves this by examining the broader social, political, legal health and welfare impacts of legal aid cuts and prescriptive service guidelines Across both jurisdictions this work suggests that it is the most vulnerable groups who lose out in the way the law now operates in the twenty first century This book is essential reading for academics students practitioners and policymakers interested in criminal and civil justice access to justice the provision of legal assistance and legal aid

Departmental annual report 2010-11 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Foreign Affairs Committee,2012-04-13 Despite the impressive performance of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office in representing the UK

s interests across the globe with what is in Governmental terms a particularly small budget the Foreign Affairs Committee believes that the FCO is under funded This situation has been exacerbated by the Spending Review 2010 and the lack of detail provided by the FCO and the BBC World Service as to exactly how the spending reductions target will be met is disappointing There are concerns about the steps taken by the FCO to adjust to its reduced budget reductions in the deployment of UK based staff overseas and the optimistic planned programme of property sales will have a detrimental impact on the ability of the UK to protect its interests overseas The establishment of the European External Action Service EEAS will place a further strain on the FCO s resources The Committee welcomes the appointment of Lord Williams of Baglan to the post of International Trustee with responsibility for the BBC World Service but reiterates its belief that a formal concordat governing the World Service s budget and output should be drawn up setting out the World Service s independence from budgetary pressures elsewhere in the BBC The budget cuts faced by the British Council will lead to the Council becoming a substantially different organisation by the end of the Spending Review period The greater emphasis that the British Council will place on commercial activity risks a diminution of the UK s influence and soft power

Beyond the Ballot Campaign for Social Science, 2024-11-06 2024 has been a year of change elections and political upheaval throughout the world The UK General Election is just one of many prompts for analysis about the collective challenges we face and how best to address them In these key moments social scientists play an important role as part of wider multidisciplinary efforts to identify effective equitable and affordable policy solutions This report provides a social science lens on eight contemporary UK policy challenges to equip political parties and broader civil society with an understanding of the breadth of evidence that the social sciences can bring Our contributors comprised a blend of academics and practitioners including people who have served as ministers and as senior officials within government resulting in a range of perspectives on policy challenges from different and sometimes competing standpoints Whilst this report does not make specific policy recommendations we have documented five overarching areas of consensus from the expert contributions for improving the intersections of evidence practice and policy which we encourage the UK Government to consider In setting cross cutting missions the UK Government will benefit from policymaking processes and infrastructures which incorporate a broad range of evidence in ways that are transparent and robust The new UK Government would benefit from a more joined up approach to policymaking Greater attention to the evidence base underpinning controversial and contentious policy areas could lead to calmer and more reasoned deliberation There is still significant scope for policy innovation by drawing on successful practice from the devolved nations and regions Policy development and discourse should include adequate space and time for social and societal elements to be fully explored

Education, Disability and Social Policy Steve Haines, David Ruebain, 2025-04-30 Educational opportunities for disabled children remain a vital contemporary issue in British social policy This new edition of the milestone book Education Disability and Social Policy outlines critical debates in education concerning the position and experiences of disabled children and young people within a contemporary policy context Incorporating new voices from leading thinkers this second edition includes a fresh introduction and updates to key chapters including whether the Children and Families Act 2014 resolved tensions between parents and local authorities over resources and proposals for a whole school strengths based approach to social emotional and mental health difficulties In addition it includes a new discussion on the intersection of race and disability Financial Accounting, Reporting, and Analysis Jennifer Maynard,2017 Offering both technical and interpretative content this is the only truly balanced financial accounting textbook to provide students not only with the how and why of financial information but also guidance on what this means in practice The War Against the BBC Patrick Barwise,Peter York,2020-11-19 There s a war on against the BBC It is under threat as never before And if we lose it we won t get it back The BBC is our most important cultural institution our best value entertainment provider and the global face of Britain It s our most trusted news source in a world of divisive disinformation But it is facing relentless attacks by powerful commercial and political enemies including deep funding cuts much deeper than most people realise with imminent further cuts threatened This book busts the myths about the BBC and shows us how we can save it before it s too late
