Drawing Conclusions

Great readers draw conclusions based on hints from the author in a story. When you draw conclusions, you use the information from the passage to make a guess about something. Readers use the author's hints, or evidence, to support their conclusion.

Directions: Read each passage. Then, draw a conclusion about the story based on the details in the passage. Underline the hints the author gives in the passage.

	Passage	Draw a Conclusion
1.	Repetitions were not and the cabinet was ready. Always have stood at the desk, wondering exactly what was taking her so long. The grain rubbed her hands and rubbed her hair back. Abruptly, finally, the cabinet began a sweet-sounding melody, and everyone rose in their seats.	Where are they?
2.	My bags were ready and the only thing left to pack were the food provisions. Who knew what we'd need, especially since my parents were coming too! They always brought enough food to last an army. I checked the basket to make sure the bananas weren't and I called "Amigos to the rescue!" She waggled her tail happily. She was ready for her first overnight adventure in style.	Where are they going?
3.	She waddled away from her bowl and looked down at the scrap she had seen. She had rehearsed every waddling moment and knew she was prepared, but she couldn't keep the growing feeling in her stomach. Thoughts of doubt raced through her head, but she shoved them aside. She was ready. She waddled on stage left, determined to show them just how hard she had worked to get this right.	What did she rehearse?
4.	The bees raced around the neighborhood. They make an unfamiliar sound after the long, hibernating hot summer. The bursts of noise with their stings were sometimes just stings on parents' faces. The nervous chatter of the bees was spread some of the tension of the new adventure.	What time of year is it?
5.	Darriage determined that he was going to have a plan, even if he didn't know exactly. He stood at the front door and took a deep breath. Tiptoeing, he'd wrapped his gift in newspaper, wrapping paper, and was sure his cousin would love it. What he doubted was whether anyone else would like the present, and still the anticipation he shoulders, and ring the bell, he guessed he would find out soon enough.	Why did Darriage have a present?
