Abstract

CONCLUSIONS

Journal of Management Education 35(10) 1039-1050

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness and health-related quality of life (HRQL) of elderly people. The study was conducted in a community center in a city in the north of Iran. The study population consisted of 30 elderly people (15 men and 15 women) aged 65-75 years. The study was a randomized controlled trial. The control group received no intervention, and the intervention group received a 12-week training program. The physical fitness and HRQL were measured at the beginning and end of the study. The results showed that the intervention group had significantly higher physical fitness and HRQL than the control group at the end of the study. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the physical fitness and HRQL of elderly people.
