Lynne Healy PhD International Association of Schools of Social Work Behavioral Science in the Global Arena a timely and significant volume about the role of psychologists at the UN addressing our contemporary social problems i.e. human rights social justice climate and environmental change As Congress Takooshian and Asper demonstrate it is time for psychologists to move from their individual focus toward social change at a macro diverse and global focus following the UN's 17 sustainable development goals for 2030 We need to acknowledge changing population demographics growing mobility and aging in our population and recognize the continued gender inequities and disparities among migrants salient today No longer can we simply consider psychology's role in the aftermath of disaster but to be proactive and on the forefront about counterterrorism climate change etc to promote global action so that we think and act together toward shared social change Jean Lau Chin EdD ABPP Past President International Division American Psychological Association As the UN celebrates its diamond anniversary it is fitting that thinkers in psychology provide critical insights into psychology's engagement with the UN SDG Agenda The authors have carefully considered the UN from many vantage points especially behavioural This important volume posits fresh ideas for psychology's role and future impact in the only global body that brings all governments together to tackle the social economic political and security factors that are essential for peace and collective human development in our fragile world Saths Cooper PhD Past President International Union of Psychological Scientists IUPsyS I am very excited to see the publication of a much needed book on the contribution of the behavioral sciences at the UN which highlights the role of social work The editors have successfully illuminated how social workers have been increasingly involved in addressing international issues Speaking as the current president of NASW member of the International Federation of Social Workers Executive and as a social work educator I am especially appreciative of the content on the long term involvement that social workers have had in the work of the UN This book is a gift to students who are increasingly seeking to become involved in international social work I am especially impressed by the editors commitment to promoting the professional development of students by having them co author the chapters in the book with both academics and UN leaders Well done Kathryn Conley Wehrmann PhD LCSW President National Association of Social Workers NASW
