Invasion Biology and Ecological Theory Herbert H. T. Prins, Iain J. Gordon, 2014-01-23 A critical appraisal of ecosystem theory using case studies of plant and animal invasions in Australasia

Essays on the Determinants of Student Choices and Educational Outcomes Justin A. Wong, 2011 This dissertation is composed of three essays

Essay 1 Does School Start Too Early For Student Learning considers the connection between school start time and student performance Biological evidence indicates that adolescents internal clocks are designed to make them fall asleep and wake up at later times than adults This science has prompted widespread debate about delaying school start times in the U S a country which has some of the earliest start times worldwide The debate suffers however from a glaring absence of evidence the small number of prior studies has been too low powered statistically to test whether later start times improve achievement I fill the gap by studying achievement across a large nationally representative set of high schools that have varying start times I identify the positive effect of later clock start times as well as the independent effect of greater daylight at school start time My primary empirical method is cross sectional regression with rich controls for potentially confounding variables The findings are confirmed by regression discontinuity analysis focused on schools close to time zone boundaries I quantify the net gain in welfare from having an additional hour of sunlight before school starts by comparing the substantial lifetime earnings benefits for students against the likely the societal costs

Essay 2 Student Success and Teaching Assistant Effectiveness In Large Classes considers the impact teaching assistants TAs have on student performance In universities TAs play a crucial role by providing small group instruction in lecture courses with large enrollment The multiplicity of TAs creates both positive opportunities and negative incentives On the one hand some TAs may excel at tasks such as helping struggling students at which other TAs fail If so all students may be able to learn better if they can match themselves to the TA that best suits their needs On the other hand the multiplicity of TAs means that students in the same class often receive instruction that varies in quality even though they are ultimately graded on the same standard In this paper we use data from a large lecture course in which students are conditionally randomly assigned to TAs In addition to administrative data on scores and grades we use survey data which we generated on students initial preparation their study habits and their interactions with TAs We identify the existence of variation among TAs in teaching effectiveness We also identify how TAs vary in their effectiveness with certain subpopulations of students the least and best prepared students with different backgrounds and so on Using our parameter estimates we simulate student achievement under scenarios such as random assignment to TAs elimination retraining of the least effective TAs and matching of TAs to students based on initial information to show the potential gains in student welfare from more efficient matching

Essay 3 A Study of Student Majors A Historical Perspective considers whether differing financial returns across degrees are a significant factor in a student's choice of a major During the late 1990s the U S experienced a technology boom that significantly increased the initial salary offers to engineering students and computer science students in particular These dramatic increases in returns provide an excellent opportunity to examine not only how students respond to salary levels but also to salary trends The existing literature has focused on the extent to which differing financial returns can affect a student's choice of undergraduate major This paper extends the analysis to test if trends in salary levels also affect the share of students selecting into various majors using a comprehensive dataset of all post secondary institutions I find that students select into majors that offer higher salaries and have greater wage growth Using a flexible empirical model that allows students to respond to both changes in salary levels and growth I find that the results hold across majors and within engineering disciplines These results help to explain why for instance the percentage of students choosing to major in computer science grew more rapidly than could be explained by salary level alone

Ballroom Biology: Recent Insights into Honey Bee Waggle Dance Communications Roger Schürch, Margaret J. Couvillon, Madeleine Beekman, 2016-03-02 The honey bee waggle dance communication is a complex unique at times controversial and ultimately fascinating behavior In an elaborate figure of eight movement a returning forager conveys the distance and direction from the hive to resources usually the nectar and pollen that is their food and it remains one of the most sophisticated known forms of non human communication Not surprisingly since its discovery more than 60 years ago by Karl von Frisch the dance has been subject to investigations that span from basic biology through human culture and neurophysiology to landscape ecology Here we collate recent advances in our understanding of the dance

Tests in Education Philip Levy, Harvey Goldstein, 2014-05-19 Tests in Education A Book of Critical Reviews is a collection of reviews of tests used in education Topics covered by the reviews include early development language mathematics composite attainments general abilities and personality and counseling In the introduction the tests reviewed their range and their accessibility and availability are discussed along with the issues taken into account by the reviewers in the preparation of their reviews Some of the desiderata for published tests are considered and the principles and issues frequently referred to by the reviewers are highlighted The next section is devoted to the test reviews which cover early development language mathematics composite attainments general abilities and personality and counseling The final chapter focuses on a number of other reviews for tests such as the Comprehension Test for College of Education Students Garnett College Test Maitland Graves Design Judgement Test The Meier Art Tests Modern Language Aptitude Test Seashore Measure of Musical Talents and Wing Standardized Tests of Musical Intelligence This monograph will be of value to a wide range of professionals including teachers higher administrative staff and educational advisers educational psychologists medical officers speech therapists pediatricians psychiatrists and social workers
