

A photograph of a man and a woman in profile, facing each other. The man on the left wears glasses and has his hand near his chin. The woman on the right has her hand near the man's chin. They are both looking at each other with gentle expressions. The background is dark with small white specks, resembling a starry sky. The title 'ninety' is written in a stylized, outlined font in the center, with the author's name 'Joanna Murray-Smith' below it.

Ninety By Joanna Murray Smith:

Cheating on the Sisterhood Lauren Rosewarne, 2009-05-14 Drawing on the author's own experience as the other woman in an affair with an otherwise committed man, this contemporary feminist study is the first to label the role of the two-timing male as sexual terrorist. Cheating on the Sisterhood: Infidelity and Feminism is a feminist analysis of the imbroglio of sexual politics, brute sociobiology and pop-mediated passion that is conjured up when a married man cheats on his wife with a younger single woman. Drawing frankly on her own experience as the other woman, Lauren Rosewarne scrutinizes the alternate readings of the politics of cheating in terms of feminism's program of gender equality. Arguing that contemporary feminism does not automatically endorse or reject any particular choices, she shows what happens when all three parties to the classic triangle happen to be feminists, each trotting out a different set of feminist arguments to justify, vilify and rationalize his or her actions. Is the other woman this book asks just a tool of the cheating man's assertion of gender dominance over both his mate and his mistress and a willy-nilly traitor to the sisterhood? Ninety Humanists and the Ethical Transition of Britain Callum G. Brown, 2025-10-16 This book re-writes the origins of the progressive 1960s. It argues that 94 leading British intellectuals, nearly all humanists, were inspired by H.G. Wells to amend the ethical laws of the nation under a banner of The Open Conspiracy. Using a wealth of correspondence and other materials covering 1930 to 1980, Callum Brown identifies a new motivation behind ethical change. Whilst established narratives attribute most changes to youth revolt, the sex revolution and feminism, he shows how a humanist-led network realigned much of the British state to the principles of humanitarianism, the autonomy of the individual and internationalism. The author examines the network's campaigns and the work of individual intellectuals. High-profile members come into focus, including Bertrand Russell, Julian Huxley and Barbara Wootton. Highlighting the amazing breadth of the group's work, the book reveals 11 main areas of ethical ambition, ranging from abolishing world hunger, hanging child beating and women's entrapment in abusive marriages to nuclear disarmament and the promotion of federal world government. The result is a compelling new perspective on modern British history and the key social and moral reforms of the past century.

Catching Australian Theatre in the 2000s Richard Fotheringham, James Smith, 2013-11-01 Whether catching Australian theatre during the 2000s or catching up now, this volume provides the reader with an overview of the decade. It reveals how Australian theatre continues to reflect the major political and social concerns of our time. Each contribution explores an important area of Australian performance so that the volume provides crucial background and insightful analysis for current theatre practice. The contributions cover political theatre, Indigenous theatre, playwrights concerned with cultural identity, key Shakespearean productions, the impact of funding and arts policy on theatre dramaturgy and innovative projects, leading directors on rehearsal processes, theatre for young people, regional theatre including the Northern Territory and physical theatre and Circus Oz. The book confirms the consolidation of previous artistic achievement over the decade and identifies the emergence of new trends and creative
