Objects Of Desire Design And Society Since 175:

Objects of Desire Adrian Forty, 1987 Building reputations Conor Lucey, 2018-05-10 Taking a cue from revisionist scholarship on early modern vernacular architectures and their relationship to the classical canon this book rehabilitates the reputations of a representative if misunderstood building typology the eighteenth century brick terraced house and the artisan communities of bricklayers carpenters and plasterers responsible for its design and construction Opening with a cultural history of the building tradesman in terms of his reception within contemporary architectural discourse chapters consider the design decoration and marketing of the town house in the principal cities of the eighteenth and early nineteenth century British Atlantic world The book is essential reading for students and scholars of the history of architectural design and interior decoration specifically and of eighteenth century society and culture generally Dirt Ben Campkin, Rosie Cox, 2012-12-05 Dirt and our rituals to eradicate it is as much a part of our everyday lives as eating breathing and sleeping Yet this very fact means that we seldom stop to question what we mean by dirt What do our attitudes to dirt and cleanliness tell us about ourselves and the societies we live in Exploring a wide variety of settings domestic urban suburban and rural the contributors expose how our ideas about dirt are intimately bound up with issues of race ethnicity class gender sexuality and the body The result is a a rich and challenging work that extends our understanding of historical and contemporary cultural manifestations of dirt and cleanliness Going Feral: Speculative Approaches to Animism in the Arts Paula Chambers, Dawn Woolley, 2025-11-04 This edited volume presents critical analyses of animism in the arts with a focus on the boundary practices of going feral Reconsidering the question posed by Cecilia Alemani Venice Biennale 2022 curator authors explore what would life look like without us in a world activated by things and a post humanist animism These speculative discussions are developed in this volume in which we consider how the process and practices of going feral might materialise through and across creative investigations Going feral is a provocative call to untame queer and radicalize feminist thought and practice producing more than human multispecies entanglements and processes of dynamic resistance The chapters critically analyse processes of going feral in artworks and art practices ranging from fine art art history and performance to architecture video games and poetry They consider how going feral allows audiences to form meaningful relationships with spoiled landscapes develop human and non human communities and to reimagine the domestic and the everyday through the prism of new animism The creative practices discussed are geographically diverse including examples from South Africa Brazil Ukraine South Korea Mexico the Caribbean Europe and North America Through these wide ranging approaches and case studies the book asks what are potential futures materialised through artworks that rethink the present as a world populated by things a place where the sensibility of materials becomes carriers of agency This edited volume argues that animism and ferality are vital tools for artists and creative professionals to describe and critique the increasing inequalities and continuous states of emergency that characterise late stage capitalism The concept of going feral is a critical framework to frame contemporary issues such as environmentalism waste and discard studies and speculate ways of decentring anthropomorphism

Industrial Design, Competition and Globalization G. Rusten, J. Bryson, 2009-11-19 Economic activities are becoming increasingly globalised One result being that for companies in developed market economies price based competition is being replaced or supplemented by other forms of competitiveness This book explores the shift towards design based competitiveness and the escalation in the design intensity of goods and services

Print Culture Frances Robertson, 2013 With the advent of new digital communication technologies the end of print culture once again appears to be as inevitable to some recent commentators as it did to Marshall McLuhan This book charts the elements involved in such claims through a method that examines the iconography of materials marks and processes of print and in this sense acknowledges McLuhan's notion of the medium as the bearer of meaning

Art Botany in British Design Reform, 1835-1865 Sarah Alford, 2024-11-14 Drawing on the fields of design history and the history of science this book examines the important role that botanical science played in the emergence of Victorian design theory In early 19th century Britain a rapid influx of plants from other countries began to confuse the orders of classification As these new specimens arrived in nurseries and conservatories botanists revised and promoted a new taxonomy the Natural System In parallel in 1835 British manufacturers faced a government inquiry in order to improve the output of the British design industry They needed a nationally identifiable design aesthetic and the inquiry led to the creation of the Government Schools of Design and the Design Reform movement This book explores how whilst botanists used drawings to clarify new systems of plant classification designers learnt art botany the practice of basing decorative form and ornament on the hidden natural laws that govern plant growth and structure Design reformers used botany as a model for how to create and identify what is new and incorporate it into what was already familiar and meaningful all within the purview of developing a professional field of practice Sarah Alford provides a rich interdisciplinary study of how the fields of design and botanical science came together Through a framework of material culture Alford sheds new light on the work of leading botanists designers and illustrators such as Sarah Drake John Lindley Richard Redgrave Owen Jones and Christopher Dresser This book reveals how the designation of what design reformers deemed appropriate for the surface decoration of material structures as varied as carpets jugs wallpaper and furniture was an embrace of botanical science as a source of fantasy and imagination
