

WRITING A SCHOLARSHIP ESSAY

When you write a scholarship essay, you'll want to work through the following steps. Some may seem obvious; others are easy to forget. Your goal is an essay that the readers will notice and remember—one that stands out from all the others they're getting. Your essay will show that you are interesting, capable, positive, and that you value the things the givers do. Ultimately, it will have a single theme: you are the person who should get this scholarship.

Do your homework.

Your first step is to read the scholarship announcement very, very carefully. How long should your essay be (and, if there's a strict limit, what does it count: words or characters)? When's the deadline? Obviously, you'll want to make sure that you meet the scholarship's minimum qualifications. If the scholarship is for economics majors who speak Spanish, there's not much point in applying for it if you're an economics major who doesn't speak Spanish.

Just as importantly, though, you'll want to think about the qualities that the scholarship committee is really looking for. Who is offering this scholarship? What do they care about? Is the scholarship for someone who cares about the environment? Somebody who can multitask? Someone who wants to teach? If the scholarship is offered by an organization, try going to the organization's website and see what you can learn about what its values are.

While you do this, you also want to think about what you have to offer. It's OK to brag a little—you should!—but the most effective bragging lets the facts speak for themselves. What experiences have you had that make you a great candidate for this particular scholarship? What stories can you tell that will show what a good fit you are? What strengths do you have that relate to this scholarship? Make a list—and then try brainstorming or freewriting to come up with memories that show those strengths and lots of specific details about those memories.

It will probably help to write an outline. How will you get the reader interested? Where will you talk about your background? Your goals? How will you show why you care about the field you're going into? If you're going to write a formal conclusion paragraph, what can you put in it so that you're not just repeating what you've already said? If you're not going to write a formal conclusion paragraph, how will you end your essay on a strong, positive note?

Write your first draft.

How you'll convince your readers that you are the best person to get the award will largely depend on what the scholarship announcement seems to value. Consider this thesis: Now that I've worked in nursing homes for several years, I want to become a nurse practitioner specializing in geriatrics so I can help elderly people maintain their quality of life. It might be great for a giver interested in medicine or community service, but less so for a giver focused on helping disadvantaged students.
