National Park Service CENTENNIAL

As the National Park Service celebrates its 100th birthday, we are proud to share the story of the agency's rich history and the many ways it has shaped the nation's landscape. From the first national monument, the Antiquities Act, to the creation of the National Park System, the Service has been a steward of our natural and cultural heritage. Today, the Service manages over 80 million acres of land, including 63 national parks, 200 national monuments, and 11 national preserves. The Service's mission is to preserve the natural and cultural resources of the United States for the enjoyment and inspiration of present and future generations.

The National Park Service is a federal agency within the United States Department of the Interior. It was created in 1909 by the Antiquities Act, which established the first national monument, the Antiquities Act. The Service's mission is to preserve the natural and cultural resources of the United States for the enjoyment and inspiration of present and future generations.
