No Other City The Ethos Anthology Of Urban Poetry:

No Other City Alvin Pang, Aaron Soon Yong Lee, 2000 Alvin Pang's Poems for No Other City : the Ethos Anthology of Urban Poetry Alvin Pang, 1997 Re-Inventing the Postcolonial (in the) Metropolis Cecile Sandten, Annika

Bauer, 2016-09-27 The notion of the postcolonial metropolis has gained prominence in the last two decades both within and beyond postcolonial studies Disciplines such as sociology and urban studies however have tended to focus on the economic inequalities class disparities and other structural and formative aspects of the postcolonial metropolises that are specific to Western conceptions of the city at large It is only recently that the depiction of postcolonial metropolises has been addressed in the writings of Suketu Mehta Chris Abani Amit Chaudhuri Salman Rushdie Aravind Adiga Helon Habila Sefi Atta and Zakes Mda among others Most of these works probe the urban specifics and physical and cultural topographies of postcolonial cities while highlighting their agential capacity to defy appropriate and abrogate the superimposition of theories of Western modernity and urbanism These ASNEL Papers are all concerned with the idea of the postcolonial in the metropolis from various disciplinary viewpoints as drawn from a great range of cityscapes spread out over five continents The essays explore on the one hand ideas of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation and on the other the possibility of transforming reinventing and reconfiguring the postcolonial condition in and through literary texts and visual narratives In this context the volume covers a broad spectrum of theoretical and thematic approaches to postcolonial and metropolitan topographies and their depictions in writings from Australia and New Zealand South Africa South Asia and greater Asia as well as the UK addressing issues such as modernity and market economies but also caste class and social and linguistic aspects At the same time they reflect on the postcolonial metropolis and postcolonialism in the metropolis by concentrating on an urban imaginary which turns on notions of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation as the continuing postcolonial condition

A Philosopher's Madness Chan Lishan, This is a personal and philosophical account of schizophrenia that aims to raise awareness of mental health issues The personal aspect of the book reveals the gritty reality of what it is like to have schizophrenia and explores issues faced by those with mental illness such as secrecy and recovery The philosophical aspect of the book raises questions concerning the nature of mental illness such as whether or not mental illness is ultimately physical or mental Referencing contemporary debates such as whether madness is a disease or a culturally determined label this book is relevant not only to persons with an interest in a true story of psychosis but also to those with an interest in the relationship between philosophy and madness Reader Reviews Through this book I hope it challenges the public's perception of mental health as being an all or none phenomenon it is in actual fact a spectrum on which all of us oscillate back and forth throughout various times in our lives Not only should we learn to appreciate mental health we should also accept that those who suffer from mental illness can recover and lead satisfying lives with the focusing on Singapore's singular position in the region and as a global city. The articles consider how various experiences of Singapore both from within and from outside help to complicate existing assumptions about global urbanism, postcolonialism, and architectural theory while producing challenging new ideas from a variety of disciplines concerned with how space, historicity, architecture, and textuality inform one another.

The Oxford Handbook of Southeast Asian Englishes Andrew J. Moody, 2024-03-03. The Oxford Handbook of Southeast Asian Englishes is the first reference work of its kind to describe both the history and the contemporary forms, functions, and status of English in Southeast Asia (SEA). Since the arrival of English traders to Southeast Asia in the seventeenth century, the English language has had a profound impact on the linguistic ecologies and the development of societies throughout the region. Today, countries such as Singapore and the Philippines have adopted English as a national language, while in others such as Indonesia and Cambodia, it is used as a foreign language of education. The chapters in this volume provide a comprehensive overview of current research on a wide range of topics addressing the impact of English as a language of globalization and exploring new approaches to the spread of English in SEA. The volume is divided into six parts that investigate, respectively, historical and contemporary English contact in SEA, the structures of the Englishes spoken in different SEA nations, the English language literatures of the region, approaches to English in education throughout the region, and resources for researching SEA Englishes. The handbook will be an invaluable reference work for students and researchers in areas as diverse as contact linguistics, English as a Foreign Language, world Englishes, and sociolinguistics.

Peninsular Muse Mohammad A. Quayum, 2007. This book brings together for the first time interviews with sixteen major writers in the English language from Malaysia and Singapore. Three generations of writers representing various literary genres and ethnic groups come together to make this book fully illustrative of the literature of the two countries. In their respective interviews, the writers discuss significant issues pertaining to their own lives, careers, and works. They also explain what they think of the present state of their own societies' literatures and cultures and where they stand vis-à-vis the questions of religion, science, technology, censorship, gender, ethnicity, multiculturalism, nationalism, and globalisation. Moreover, the writers comment on the challenges they encounter writing in an alien language as well as in an environment of growing materialism and technocracy, and finally, they discuss the future of their own writing and writing in English in Malaysia and Singapore more generally.

Reading the Malay World Rick Hosking, 2010. This collection of essays is the culmination of a symposium on the representation of Malays and Malay culture in Singaporean and Malaysian literature in English, held at Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM). The symposium, with the theme 'Reading the Malay World through Singaporean and Malaysian Texts in English', brought together experts from the fields of literature, language, and linguistics to spotlight the ways in which Malays and Malay culture are captured in the literary imagination of Singaporean and Malaysian writers writing in English. The symposium highlighted how Malays and Malay culture are imagined and promoted through literature and also explored Malayness from linguistic and cultural perspectives. Issues of concern addressed here include the construction of the Malays in Singaporean and Malaysian literature in English within orientalist or colonialist discourses of the East the influence of English on the ways that Malays and Malay culture are represented how Malay identity is defined and the positioning of the Malays in literary imaginations and social realities Identity, Home and Writing Elsewhere in Contemporary Chinese Diaspora Poetry Jennifer Wong, 2023-01-12 An exploration of the burgeoning field of Anglophone Asian diaspora poetry this book draws on the thematic concerns of Hong Kong Asian American and British Asian poets from the wider Chinese or East Asian diasporic culture to offer a transnational understanding of the complex notions of home displacement and race in a globalised world Located within current discourse surrounding Asian poetry postcolonial and migrant writing and bridging the fields of literary and cultural criticism with author interviews this book provides close readings on established and emerging Chinese diasporic poets work by incorporating the writers own reflections on their craft through interviews with some of those featured In doing so Jennifer Wong explores the usefulness and limitations of existing labels and categories in reading the works of selected poets from specific racial socio cultural linguistic environments and gender backgrounds including Bei Dao Li Young Lee Marilyn Chin Hannah Lowe and Sarah Howe Nina Mingya Powles and Mary Jean Chan Incorporating scholarship from both the East and the West Wong demonstrates how these poets experimentation with poetic language and forms serve to challenge the changing notions of homeland family history and identity offering new evaluations of contemporary diasporic voices New Writing Scholarship Graeme Harper, 2025-02-12 This book provides engaging insights into the evolution and scope of the critical study of creative writing The wide range of chapters included reveals analyzes done as the field of Creative Writing Studies further emerged and grew across the world The book explores investigative methods and pedagogical thinking that has excitingly shaped and is shaping the critical and practice led study of creative writing particularly in higher education This volume is relevant for both students and scholars interested in creative writing particularly those who are interested in creative writing teaching and learning The chapters in the book were originally published as articles and editorials in the New Writing journal and are accompanied by a new Introduction and Conclusion and a Foreword by well known Creative Writing Studies scholar Dianne Donnelly The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban Literary Studies Jeremy Tambling, 2022-10-29 This encyclopaedia will be an indispensable resource and recourse for all who are thinking about cities and the urban and the relation of cities to literature and to ways of writing about cities Covering a vast terrain this work will include entries on theorists individual writers individual cities countries cities in relation to the arts film and music urban space pre early and modern cities concepts and movements and definitions amongst others Written by an international team of contributors this will be the first resource of its kind to pull together such a comprehensive overview of the field The Birthday Book: The Roads We Take Cheryl Chung, Aaron Maniam, 2018-08-09 In this edition 53 contributors reflect on The Roads We Take the paths they have chosen to take in their lives More than just personal stories these essays highlight the importance of resilience and the evolution of the political and social landscape in Singapore The book compels readers to think of the complexity of the future roads we must take as individuals as a nation because in sunny Singapore no one road stays forever

Cherry Days David Leo, A coming of age story set in 1950s Singapore written with photorealistic clarity Skinny and his friends grow up in a self sufficient kampong along an unnamed road Reading about their lives a distinctive character of their long gone childhood and of Singapore emerges raw from a recently concluded war alive with student riots and social movements Among the themes explored by the narrator is one of change such as the transition from rural to urban living and the role of women in a developing society as if inevitably the road must lead to it Stories of love death and forgiveness line the unnamed road at the heart of life in the kampong Reader Reviews This is a local book that should be of interest to Westerners because it s such a well told story This is really one of the first works I ve read that didn t have an assumption that Singapore s history is of interest to the rest of the world This book simply had an unassuming way of speaking about childhood while navigating through an interesting period in time The writer had such wonderful discipline at keeping perspective and wrestling the story down to size at delivering a really well shaped tale that has a lot of universal resonance and local affection David Leo had a really deft hand Fran Lebowitz Cherry Days is a very ambitious and largely very effective contained novel that is essentially set on one stretch of an unnamed road The setting is one of the real strengths of the book a coming of age fiction set in the Singapore of the 1950s that effectively creates a mood of nostalgia There is an elegiac quality to Skinny s story about his long gone childhood in the kampong even as the book explores parallel developments in history especially the changing role of women The attention to detail in recreating the location and some strong characters are notable highlights David Leo writes with a simplicity and clarity that works to bolster the essential tone of the narrative Shoba Viswanathan The unassuming deceptively simple prose of Cherry Days belies its big hearted emotional core from which the characters are vividly lovingly and empathetically drawn The book draws the readers in steadily keeping them enthralled in the bucolic kampong life and shenanigans of its inhabitants Yet layer by layer it peels away the patina of innocence revealing the loss and poignancy that comes with growing up Cherry Days is a treasure trove of precious memories and epitomes of neighbourly love William Phuan managing director of The Select Centre Cherry Days appeals with nostalgia and a familiar sense of community The straightforward prose imparts with affection defining moments and memories of youth and family Tan Mei Ching writer of novels short stories creative nonfiction plays children s books

After the Fall: Dirges Among Ruins Eric Tinsay Valles,2023-04-29 This collection explores the creative space of poetry as a means to unravel feelings evoked by the violence of war or by everyday traumatic events One may come to terms with uncomfortable including unspeakable feelings by describing them with imagery from nature and one s immediate environment By participating in grieving the self can better face any lingering effects of trauma In this creative space dramatic speakers retell stories and give vent to contradictory feelings through silences and free play Their accounts attest to the dappled beauty of the human condition even if the full
