Teaching Early Writing and Reading Together Connie Campbell Dierking, 2007 The writing reading connection means more than having your students write under the influence of literature that they have read. Noted author and educator Connie Campbell Dierking shows you how to develop a literacy connected classroom including using oral storytelling to scaffold primary reading and writing. She supplies more than 50 mini lessons organized by their classroom function to help you explicitly teach foundational literacy skills during writer's workshop or whole class and small group reading instruction. Dierking encourages you to make the most of the writing reading connection by thinking about some basic questions when you're crafting your literacy instruction: How can I connect the conversations in reading and writing workshop? What can I learn about the readers in my classroom through their writing? What can my students learn about reading through writing? How can I teach young writers to support their readers? How can I teach readers how to use a writer's supports intentionally?

Low Vision: Assessment and Educational Needs Dr. G. Victoria Naomi, 2017-04-24 The population of people with low vision is increasing. Services are needed to meet their needs for education and rehabilitation. Clinical measurements of vision do not correlate with how a person uses vision. Low vision service in many developing countries is of recent origin. Many primary eye care providers in developing countries may not understand the importance of low vision rehabilitation service and do not carry out the functional vision assessment. Hence the functional vision assessment and developing visual efficiency depend on the educators and rehabilitation professionals. This book describes the vision assessment using simple techniques and functional vision assessment procedure. Visual efficiency, the ability to use vision effectively, can be developed by instructional strategies and environmental adaptations. This book describes the techniques with illustrations. The use of optical devices may require a structured practice. The readers will understand that efficiency in the use of optical devices may help the low vision child's academic success. This guide addresses that decision about reading medium of low vision students is based on the structure of impairment and the sensory capabilities. The book also includes the educational needs of low vision students. This book can be taken as a well organized guide and textbook for teachers, researchers, parents, and low
