Professional Job Centre Nursing:

Cultivating Moral Character and Virtue in Professional Practice David Carr, 2018-03-05 Cultivating Moral Character and Virtue in Professional Practice is a pioneering collection of essays focused on the place of character and virtue in professional practice. Professional practices usually have codes of conduct designed to ensure good conduct but while such codes may be necessary and useful they appear far from sufficient since many recent public scandals in professional life seem to have been attributable to failures of personal moral character. This book argues that there is a pressing need to devote more attention in professional education to the cultivation or development of such moral qualities as integrity, courage, self control, service and selflessness. Featuring contributions from distinguished leaders in the application of virtue ethics to professional practice such as Sarah Banks, Ann Gallagher, Geoffrey Moore, Justin Oakley and Nancy Sherman, the volume looks beyond traditional professions to explore the ethical dimensions of a broad range of important professional practices. Inspired by a successful international and interdisciplinary conference on the topic, the book examines various ways of promoting moral character and virtue in professional life from the general ethical perspective of contemporary neo-Aristotelian virtue theory. The professional concerns of this work are of global significance and the book will be valuable reading for all working in contemporary professional practices. It will be of particular interest to academics, practitioners and postgraduate students in the fields of education, medicine, nursing, social work, business and commerce and military service. Choosing Nursing

Cathy Poole, 2015-04-10 Becoming a nurse is a life-changing process and making the decision to study nursing at university is the first step. This short guide will help you decide whether it is the right move for you, give you an idea of which field of nursing might suit you best and provide useful tips for making a successful application. Outlining the academic and clinical support that students can expect during their study, the stresses that they may face, how placements work and the role of the NMC for student nurses, this book includes a wide range of testimonials from nursing students as well as practising nurses. Most importantly, it shows what is unique about each of the different fields which include children's nursing, adult nursing, mental health nursing, learning disability and defence nursing. It also looks at what all of these areas have in common, what makes nursing nursing and what makes nursing special. With a final section looking to the future with tips for getting your first job and highlighting nursing opportunities around the globe, this is the must-have no-nonsense career advice book for all those considering nursing as a career option or waiting to start their nursing course or indeed for those nurses who are wishing to return to the nursing profession. Effective Communication Skills for Health Professionals Philip

Burnard, 2013-12-14 Literacy, Lives and Learning David Barton, Roz Ivanic, Yvon Appleby, Rachel Hodge, Karin Tusting, 2012-11-12 Demonstrating what it is like to be an adult learner in today's world, this book focuses on language literacy and numeracy learning. The authors explore the complex relationship between learning and adults' lives following a wide range of individual students in various formal learning situations from college environments to a young homeless project and a drug support and aftercare centre The study is rooted in a social practices approach and examines how people's lives shape their learning Themes addressed range from how literacy is learned through participation and how barriers such as violence and ill health impact on people's lives Based on a major research project and detailed reflexive and collaborative methodology the book describes a coherent strategy of communication and impact which will have a direct effect on policy and practice

Careers of Professional Women Rosalie Silverstone,Audrey Ward,2022-08-24 Originally published in 1980 women in the United Kingdom exhibited a pattern of work which was notably different from that in other countries of the EEC at the time Its distinguishing feature was the high proportion of women who returned to work by the time they were forty years of age having temporarily retired to care for young families Although this pattern was of fairly recent origin it was thought likely to be sustained Women s current life pattern was typically school training work withdrawal retirement Despite the existence of this pattern agencies responsible for education training and employment failed to recognise it as normal often treating women as special cases Thus there was a lack of flexibility in employment and insufficient retraining or part time work The problem was important both for qualified women who had made a considerable personal investment in a career and for the nation in terms of effective manpower utilisation The skills required in many occupations traditionally entered by women are either learnt on the job or by means of relatively short formal training courses This book however examines in some depth seven careers which require a minimum of three years training After a foreword by Baroness Nancy Seear and a chapter which introduces the concept of the bimodal career and the consequent problems of withdrawal and re entry each chapter is written by an author who has conducted original research into the occupation under discussion and specifically into women s personal experiences in that particular calling A concluding chapter considers the implications of the findings both for the individuals concerned and for social policy

Transnational Narratives from the Caribbean Elvira Pulitano, 2016-03-10 This book offers a timely intervention in current debates on diaspora and diasporic identity by affirming the importance of narrative as a discursive mode to understand the human face of contemporary migrations and dislocations. Focusing on the Caribbean double diaspora, Pulitano offers a close reading of a range of popular works by four well-known writers currently living in the United States: Jamaica Kincaid, Michelle Cliff, Edwidge Danticat, and Caryl Phillips. Navigating the map of fictional characters' testimonial accounts and autobiographical experiences, Pulitano draws attention to the lived experience of contemporary diasporic formations. The book offers a provocative rethinking of socio-scientific analyses of diaspora by discussing the embodied experience of contemporary diasporic communities drawing on disciplines such as Caribbean Postcolonial Diaspora and Indigenous Studies along with theories on border thinking and coloniality modernity Contesting restrictive national and linguistic boundaries when discussing literature originating from the Caribbean Pulitano situates the transnational location of Caribbean born writers within current debates of Transnational American Studies and investigates the role of immigrant writers in discourses of race ethnicity citizenship and belonging Exploring the multifarious intersections between home exile migration and displacement the book makes a significant contribution to memory and trauma studies human rights debates and international law aiming at a wide range of scholars and specialized agents beyond the strictly literary circle This volume affirms the humanity of personal stories and experiences against the invisibility of immigrant subjects in most theoretical accounts of diaspora and migration
