Armenian Genocide of 1915 Jay Winter, 2004-01-08 Before Rwanda and Bosnia and before the Holocaust the first genocide of the twentieth century happened in Turkish Armenia in 1915 when approximately one million people were killed This volume is an account of the American response to this atrocity The first part sets up the framework for understanding the genocide Sir Martin Gilbert Vahakn Dadrian and Jay Winter provide an analytical setting for nine scholarly essays examining how Americans learned of this catastrophe and how they tried to help its victims Knowledge and compassion though were not enough to stop the killings A terrible precedent was born in 1915 one which has come to haunt the United States and other Western countries throughout the twentieth century and beyond To read the essays in this volume is chastening the dilemmas Americans faced when confronting evil on an unprecedented scale are not very different from the dilemmas we face today

Blaming the Jews Bernard Harrison, 2020-10-06 In recent years Western countries have seen a proliferation of antisemitic material in social media and attacks on Jews such as that on the Tree of Life synagogue in Pittsburgh in 2018 Much of this has stemmed not from personal hostility to Jews on the part of this or that individual but from a resurgence in groups at both ends of politics of the ancient delusion that the Jews collectively dominate world affairs and lie at the root of all the world's evils In Blaming the Jews author Bernard Harrison offers a new and unique analysis of this second and far more dangerous form of antisemitism and its persistence as a cultural phenomenon Questioning the assumption that antisemitism affects or targets only Jews he demonstrates that allowed to go unrecognised or unchecked antisemitism is potentially damaging to us all In a world where rhetoric is fashioned on stereotypes and driven by political ideology Harrison argues it is our responsibility to be vigilant in exposing the delusions of antisemitism and their consequences for Jews and non Jews alike
