

Section 5-3 Human Population Growth (pages 129-132)

This section describes how the size of the human population has changed over time. It also explains why population growth rates differ in countries throughout the world.

Historical Overview (page 129)

1. How does the size of the human population change with time? It tends to increase with time.
2. Why did the population grow slowly for most of human existence? Life was harsh, and limiting factors kept population sizes low.
3. Circle the letter of each reason why the human population began to grow more rapidly about 500 years ago.
 - ☒ a. Improved sanitation and health care reduced the death rate.
 - ☒ b. Industry made life easier and safer.
 - ☒ c. The world's food supply became more reliable.
 - ☐ d. Birthrates in most places remained low.

Patterns of Population Growth (pages 130-131)

4. Why can't the human population keep growing exponentially forever? Earth and its resources are limited.
5. What is demography? It is the scientific study of human populations.
6. What factors help predict why the populations of some countries grow faster than others? Factors include birthrates, death rates, and the age structure of the populations.
7. The hypothesis that explains why population growth has slowed dramatically in the United States, Japan, and much of Europe is called the demographic transition.
8. Throughout much of human history, what have been the levels of birthrates and death rates in human societies? Human societies have had high birthrates and equally high death rates.
9. What factors lower the death rate? Advances in nutrition, sanitation, and medicine lower the death rate.

Energy-Emissions Trends and Policy Landscape for India P.R. Shukla, Amit Garg, Hem H. Dholakia, 2015-01-22 India's energy system has evolved around domestic coal sizable imports of oil and LNG moderate contribution of hydro power declining and yet sizable use of traditional biomass as cooking fuel by rural households and growing attention to modern renewable nuclear and energy efficient technologies India's per capita GHG emissions are below the global average and far below those in the developed countries Notwithstanding the inherited fossil based energy system and high economic growth expectations India voluntarily committed to reduce GHG emissions intensity of the economy by 20 25 per cent from 2005 to 2020 This book details inventory of energy and emissions at national and sector levels It maps firm and locale level energy use and emissions and their impacts such as on the urban air pollution The future energy and emissions trends are analyzed following scenarios analysis using integrated assessment modelling framework that aligns India s national development goals with global climate change actions The analysis shows that the global 2 C temperature stabilization target shall require fundamental transformation of India s energy system both on demand and supply sides The book demonstrates the necessity and validity of following a long term development centric perspective even while delineating near term energy and emissions policies programs and targets such as those needed to delineate the Intended Nationally Determined Contributions INDCs The book while illustrating the best practice modeling scenarios development and policy assessment for India provides insights into the mode and means of navigating the energy and emissions policy landscape for India The complexity of the policymaking notwithstanding the book is intended to demystify the methods and means for delineating the policies The book we hope demonstrates the need to use best practice methodologies for national assessments and also the existence of the scientific capacity in the country to carry out such assessments
