Frontiers in Resource and Rural Economics Wu JunJie,Paul Barkley,Bruce Weber,2010-09-30 Most land in the United States is in rural areas as are the sources of most of its fresh water and almost all its other natural resources One of the first books to approach resource economics and rural studies as fundamentally interconnected areas of study Frontiers in Resource and Rural Economics integrates the work of 18 leading scholars in resource economics rural economics rural sociology and political science in order to focus on two complex interdependencies one pertaining to natural resources and human welfare the other to urban and rural communities and their economies The book reviews the past 50 years of scholarship in both natural resource and rural economics It contrasts their different intellectual and practical approaches and considers how they might be refocused in light of pressing demands on human and natural systems It then proposes a new rural economics that acknowledges the full range of human ecosystem and urban rural interdependencies It explores the relationship between natural resources and economic growth and considers the prospects for amenity driven growth that would benefit both new and traditional inhabitants of rural areas Later chapters explore the politics of place spatial economics strategies for reducing rural poverty and prospects for linking rural and environmental governance Throughout the book emphasizes innovative research methods that integrate natural resource environmental and rural economics

Leading a Family Business Justin B. Craig Ph.D.,Ken Moores Ph.D.,2017-07-20 Based on insights from executives across the globe this planning guide captures the unique challenges faced by leaders of a family business and presents an approach to help these operations survive and thrive across generations Leading a company is a much different experience for those in a family run business than for their contemporaries in nonfamilial environments This book provides a comprehensive overview of the skill set and mindset required to lead family enterprises and it introduces the four critical areas in which family businesses differ from traditional companies management structures governance mechanisms entrepreneurial advantages and stewardship practices In a fascinating convergence of entrepreneurship family relations and corporate principles the authors present two frameworks to better understand the best practices of leading a family business a firm level frame focused on these four critical areas of difference architecture governance entrepreneurship and stewardship and an individual one that mirrors these in terms of the skill set and mindset successful leaders need to develop Craig and Moores consider the differences between leadership in family enterprises and non family enterprises the entrepreneurial capabilities needed by executives in family based firms and the use of power identification and motivation in managing their responsibilities both at home and in the workplace Case studies provide a real life look at the inner workings of family operations across the globe
