before his death the lectures in this volume mark a critical juncture in the career of Roland Barthes in which he declared the intention deeply felt to write a novel Unfolding over the course of two years Barthes engaged in a unique pedagogical experiment he combined teaching and writing to simulate the trial of novel writing exploring every step of the creative process along the way Barthes s lectures move from the desire to write to the actual decision making planning and material act of producing a novel He meets the difficulty of transitioning from short concise notations exemplified by his favorite literary form haiku to longer uninterrupted flows of narrative and he encounters a number of setbacks Barthes takes solace in a diverse group of writers including Dante whose La Vita Nuova was similarly inspired by the death of a loved one and he turns to classical philosophy Taoism and the works of Fran ois Ren Chateaubriand Gustave Flaubert Franz Kafka and Marcel Proust This book uniquely includes eight elliptical plans for Barthes s unwritten novel which he titled Vita Nova and lecture notes that sketch the critic s views on photography Following on The Neutral Lecture Course at the Coll ge de France 1977 1978 and a third forthcoming collection of Barthes lectures this volume provides an intensely personal account of the labor and love of writing      Textual Scholarship and the Material Book Wim Van Mierlo,2007 In the last decades the emphasis in textual scholarship has moved onto creation production process collaboration onto the material manifestations of a work onto multiple rather than single versions onto reception and book history Textual scholarship now includes not only textual editing but any form of scholarship that looks at the materiality of text of writing of reading and of the book The essays in this collection explore many questions about methodology and theory arising from this widening scope of textual scholarship The range of texts discussed from Sanskrit epic via Medieval Latin commentary through English and Scottish Ballads to the plays of Samuel Beckett and the stories of Guimar es Rosa testifies to the vigour of the discipline The range of texts is matched by a range of approach from theoretical discussion of how text happens to analysis of issues of book design and censorship the connections between literary and textual studies exploration of the links between reception and commodification in George Eliot and between information theory and paratext Through this diversity of subject and approach a common theme emerges the need to look further for common ground from which to continue the debate from a comparative perspective      In Every

Outside the Anthropological Machine Chiara Mengozzi, 2020-05-14 In the midst of the climate crisis and the threat of the sixth extinction, we can no longer claim to be the masters of nature. Rather, we need to unlearn our species arrogance for the sake of all animals, human and non-human. Rethinking our being in the world as Homo sapiens, this monograph argues, starts precisely from the way we relate to our closer companion species. The authors gathered here endeavour to find multiple exit strategies from the anthropocentric paradigms that have bound the human and social sciences. Part I investigates the unexplored margins of human history by re-reading historical events, literary texts, and scientific findings from an animal's perspective rather than a human's. Part II explores different forms of human-animal relationships, putting the emphasis on the institutions, spaces, and discourses that frame our interactions with animals. Part III engages with processes of translation that aim to render animals' experience and perception into human words and visual language.
