Reading Fluency Timothy Rasinski, William Rupley, David Paige, Chase Young, 2021-01-21 Reading fluency has been identified as a key component of proficient reading Research has consistently demonstrated significant and substantial correlations between reading fluency and overall reading achievement Despite the great potential for fluency to have a significant outcome on students reading achievement it continues to be not well understood by teachers school administrators and policy makers The chapters in this volume examine reading fluency from a variety of perspectives The initial chapter sketches the history of fluency as a literacy instruction component Following chapters examine recent studies and approaches to reading fluency followed by chapters that explore actual fluency instruction models and the impact of fluency instruction Assessment of reading fluency is critical for monitoring progress and identifying students in need of intervention Two articles on assessment one focused on word recognition and the other on prosody expand our understanding of fluency measurement Finally a study from Turkey explores the relationship of various reading competencies including fluency in an integrated model of reading Our hope for this volume is that it may spark a renewed interest in research into reading fluency and fluency instruction and move toward making fluency instruction an even more integral part of all literacy instruction

Direct Instruction of Decoding Strategies to Enhance Reading Fluency and Automaticity Response Jessica Miller, 2015 Decoding and fluency have long been linked to reading comprehension Comprehension is the main goal of reading therefore it is important that students develop good decoding skills in order to become fluent readers When one struggles figuring out words he she does not have the processing space left for understanding. It is important then that decoding skills become second nature in order to build fluency and reach the overall goal of comprehension. This study will investigate if direct instruction of decoding strategies over the course of one trimester will affect reading fluency and automaticity of response in Title I reading students in grades 1-4. Students will be pre-assessed in their use of decoding strategies, reading rate, and sight word recognition. Over the course of the study, one to two decoding strategies will be taught during the word work portion of the student's Title I intervention time. Also throughout the trimester, students' reading rate, sight word recognition, and use of decoding strategies will be tracked over the course of a trimester in hopes to determine if as more decoding strategies are taught, the student's fluency and automaticity of response increase.
