Tinbergen and Karl von Frisch received the Nobel Prize for their contribution to science. Observing and describing exactly what animals do is fascinating and scientific analysis of their behaviour is significant for several reasons. Each species tends to have an array of stereotyped behaviours, some of which are shared with related species but others are unique. Ecology, natural selection, macroevolution, microevolution, and genes constitute the foundation of animal behaviour. Various animal groups exhibit diverse strategies for their survival and reproduction, which are discussed in this book. The book is primarily intended for the students of B.Sc. M.Sc. Zoology Life Science for their courses. It would be useful for the researchers in the field of animal behaviour and conservation biologists. It would also attract students who are pursuing courses in Sociology and Anthropology. Key features: Presents a well-balanced view of ethology; Discusses the current development in the field; Includes a glossary of important terms; Offers chapter-end questions to check the students' understanding of the concept.
