Histopathology Reporting Derek C Allen, 2007-01-30 Many of the introductory comments in the first edition of this book regarding the increasingly focused approach required of pathologists to surgical cancer histopathology reports still pertain In the intervening period a number of trends have continued to develop that have required an update system specific cancer multidisciplinary meetings with specialized clinicians and appropriate pathological radiological and oncological support Increasingly these meetings require fewer pathologists reporting significant numbers of relevant cases rather than a large number of pathologists reporting them only sporadically From this has arisen cancer specific lead pathologists encompassing a spectrum of specialist differentiation from monospecialists to generalists with an interest in and variations in between Cancer report datasets aimed at maintaining overall standards of reporting are freely available published by various bodies viz the Royal College of Pathologists the Association of Directors of Anatomic and Surgical Pathology and the College of American Pathologists In the UK the Royal College Datasets are a model for standardized reporting and their success is measured by their ongoing revision and second cycle of publication No doubt specialist and team reporting will increase particularly as the parameters for each cancer type report become more complex Datasets with their notes and attendant information are required not only to update pathologists but also to keep them aware of significant pathology in other areas that might impact on their own specialization e.g metastatic carcinoma
