Patrol In The Dreamtime:

Patrol in the Dreamtime, 1997-01-01 In Denial Robert Manne, 2001-04-01 In this national bestseller Robert Manne attacks the right wing campaign against the Bringing them home report that revealed how thousands of Aboriginal children had been taken from their parents What was the role of Paddy McGuinness as editor of Quadrant How reliable was the evidence that led newspaper columnists from Piers Akerman in the Sydney Daily Telegraph to Andrew Bolt in the Melbourne Herald Sun to deny the gravity of the injustice done In a powerful indictment of past government policies towards the indigenous Australians Robert Manne has written a brilliant polemical essay which doubles as a succinct history of how indigenous Australians were mistreated and an exposure of the ignorance of those who want to deny that history In complex intellectual conflicts there will always be argument about whether the antagonists are committed to finding the truth or to winning the battle This essay tells us that Robert Manne is intent on finding the truth Morag Fraser editor Eureka Street In Denial is a work of both the head and the heart It is carefully researched and powerfully expressed It needs to be widely read The Hon P J Keating former Prime Minister of Australia Rednecks, Eggheads and Blackfellas Gillian Cowlishaw, 2020-08-02 This lively book brings the reader close to the people from a remote cattle station in far north Australia where black and white peoples lives have been intertwined over the span of 80 years Tracing the humorous savage and ordinary ways in which race structured intimate and everyday relationships across a great divide Gillian Cowlishaw makes startling and original arguments about race relations By investigating specific patterns of interaction on Australia s cultural frontier Rednecks Eggheads and Blackfellas illustrates how anthropologists pastoralists and government officials squabbled about Aborigines as they intruded into their country controlled aspects of their lives and dominated the way they were represented in the public realm The ironic title hints that the difference between redneck pastoralists and egghead anthropologists is not so great as might be imagined Aborigines were central to the projects of both kinds of whitefellas Weaving the shifts in government policy and public opinion with accounts of their sometimes ludicrous impact on outback communities this book brings to life the complexities of living with racial categories And it asks why increasingly enlightened anti racist policies seldom seem to have worked as intended even in this era of self determination This thought provoking work will speak not only to anthropologists and those interested in Aboriginal Australia but to scholars of race more generally especially in the burgeoning field of whiteness studies The Protectors Stephen Gray, 2011-05-16 Powerful and provocative this is a beautifully written and very personal search to understand the men who were the protectors of Aboriginal people in Australia s north their moral ambiguities their good intentions and the devastating consequences of their decisions Australia'S Unthinkable Genocide Colin Tatz, 2017-04-04 We are a moral people and the very notion that Australians could have anything to do with genocide is unthinkableso claimed parliamentarians when Australia was asked to ratify the UNs Genocide Convention in 1949 The reality is that even decent democrats and people who consider themselves good colonists are capable of doing just that killing people because of who they were forcibly removing their children in order to assimilate them and erase them from the landscape and then in the name of their protection incarcerated them on reserves in a manner that caused them serious physical and mental harm This confronting book addresses the whole issue of what happens to an indigenous minority who were considered other than human an unworthy order of beings destined to die out

Violations of Trust Richard Hil, 2017-05-15 The past few decades have brought to light increasing evidence of systemic and repeated institutional abuse of children and young people in many western nations Government enquiries research studies and media reports have begun to highlight the widespread nature of sexual physical and emotional abuse of vulnerable children and young people However while public attention has focused on episodic dramatic representations of institutional abuse comparatively little emphasis has been given to the more mundane routinized and systemic nature of abuse that has occurred This book documents comprehensively a full range of abuse occurring in caring and protective institutions with particular reference to the Australian case The dominant theme is betrayal and in particular the ways in which agencies charged with the care and protection of children and young people become the sites of abusive practices The authors draw on a range of theoretical frameworks to explore issues of trust and betrayal in the context of the professional and ethical obligations which workers have to those in their charge The authors argue that it is not sufficient merely to report on accounts of institutional abuse or the consequences of particular practices rather it is necessary to locate the prevalence of institutional abuse in the wider context of institutional practices as they relate to the governance of particular sections of the population

Crossroads of Rural Crime Alistair Harkness, Rob White, 2021-05-19 Using the notion of crossroads to provide a unique lens through which to examine the realities of rural crime Crossroads of Rural Crime provides an understanding of the nature of rural life and ways in which transgression manifests itself in the context of a presumed rural urban divide

Indigenous Crime and Settler Law H. Douglas, M. Finnane, 2012-08-21 In a break from the contemporary focus on the law's response to inter racial crime the authors examine the law's approach to the victimization of one Indigenous person by another Drawing on a wealth of archival material relating to homicides in Australia they conclude that settlers and Indigenous peoples still live in the shadow of empire

The City's Outback Gillian Cowlshaw, 2010-10 This honest and compelling book follows the fraught exciting and painful process of getting to know others in this case Australian Aborigines in the suburbs who are already known through shocking images and worrying statistics Gillian Cowlshaw has written a book about the intimacy of the encounter the practical and ethical dilemmas of res
