Tinseltown Global South Asia Madhurima Chakraborty, 2021-12-30 This book collects essays that take on the excavatory critical and generative work of rethinking the relationship between South Asia and the world In examining what kind of new relationships are uncovered between these two geopolitical groupings the chapters in this book argue that South Asian literature and literary criticism can reframe the common narrative of the powerful Global North and a disenfranchised Global South This is not always a comforting reframing since it must account for the oppressive roles that South Asian nations sometimes play in regional and intranational theatres Through myriad disciplinary groundings theoretical approaches and objects of study the essays in this book collectively argue that South Asian literature allows us to think more critically about both the liberatory possibilities of South Asia as a grouping of nations but also of ideas and aesthetics as well as the elisions that may happen under such categorization The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the South Asia Review Children's Rights in the United States Nancy E. Walker, Catherine M. Brooks, Lawrence S.

Wrightsmen, 1999 The Rights of Children in the United States provides discussion on the historical and contextual perspective on the rights of children the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child and the differing views on children's rights and competencies No Place Like Home Sara W. Lindsey, 2015-03-31 Katie Thomas had been living all alone for 5 years in the big city of Chicago after graduating from college She had become a self-assured confident young woman after leaving trials and tragedies behind in her small hometown of Alton Indiana Her mother had pleaded with her to come home for an extended stay and she had finally decided to spend summer break there Even though she wanted to spend time with her mother she did not want to revisit the bitterness that she knew she would face when she returned to Alton Little did she know that her visit could quite possibly change her life forever During her time in Alton she would reconnect with God and the love of her life Would she be able to find it in her heart to forgive others and God Could she move beyond past tragedies and feel comfortable in Alton again
