It invites therapists to view and understand their clients differently by using an occupational lens to focus on the lives of their clients as everyday doers. It addresses the key questions at the heart of understanding humans as occupational beings: What do people typically do? And where, when, how, why, and with whom do they do it? These questions organize the key concepts from occupational science that form the first chapters of this book, enabling therapists to better understand their clients and enabling their clients to better understand the importance of occupation to their well-being. Additional chapters clearly describe how therapists can use occupation-based models to apply an expanded view of occupation and make evaluation and intervention more relevant and beneficial to their clients. A final chapter examines trends and lifestyle changes occurring in the 21st century to anticipate how these might impact future practice. Through use of engaging and thoughtful cases that illustrate many of the concepts this guide will help practitioners clearly understand their clients as doers while also providing enhanced ways for therapist to confidently apply these concepts in practice      Peterson's Graduate Programs in Business, Education, Health, Information Studies, Law & Social Work 2012 Peterson's,2012-05-15 Peterson s Graduate Programs in Business Education Health Information Studies Law Social Work 2012 contains a wealth of info on accredited institutions offering graduate degrees in these fields Up to date info collected through Peterson s Annual Survey of Graduate and Professional Institutions provides valuable data on degree offerings professional accreditation jointly offered degrees part time evening weekend programs postbaccalaureate distance degrees faculty students requirements expenses financial support faculty research and unit head and application contact information There are helpful links to in depth descriptions about a specific graduate program or department faculty members and their research and more Also find valuable articles on financial assistance the graduate admissions process advice for international and minority students and facts about accreditation with a current list of accrediting agencies      Occupational Therapy in Orthopaedics and Trauma Madeleine Mooney,Claire Ireson,2013-05-20 This book fills a gap in providing specialist information on orthopaedics and trauma occupational therapy Its contributors bring together information on the aetiology surgical input and the occupational therapy intervention appropriate to this client group It is divided into two main sections the first being orthopaedics and the second orthopaedic trauma The first part is further subdivided to cover lower limb surgery upper limb surgery spinal conditions and paediatric orthopaedic conditions In Part two principles of fracture management are covered followed by pelvic and acetabular reconstruction hand injuries and traumatic amputation      The American Journal of Occupational Therapy ,1996
