Higher Education in the Global Age Daniel Araya, Peter Marber, 2013-11-20 Discussions on globalization now routinely focus on the economic impact of developing countries in Asia Africa the Middle East the former Soviet Union and Latin America Only twenty five years ago many developing countries were largely closed societies Today the growing power of emerging markets is reordering the geopolitical landscape On a purchasing power parity basis emerging economies now constitute half of the world's economic activity Financial markets too are seeing growing integration Asia now accounts for 1/3 of world stock markets more than double that of just 15 years ago Given current trajectories most economists predict that China and India alone will account for half of global output by 2050 almost a complete return to their positions prior to the Industrial Revolution How is higher education shaping and being shaped by these massive tectonic shifts As education rises as a geopolitical priority it has converged with discussions on economic policy and a global labor market As part of the Routledge Studies in Emerging Societies series this edited collection focuses on the globalization of higher education particularly the increasing symbiosis between advanced and developing countries Bringing together senior scholars journalists and practitioners from around the world this collection explores the relatively new and changing higher education landscape

9789387045941,2020-05-01 Law in Transition Ruth Buchanan,Peer Zumbansen,2014-12-01 Law has become the vehicle by which countries in the developing world including post conflict states or states undergoing constitutional transformation must steer the course of social and economic legal and political change Legal mechanisms in particular the instruments as well as concepts of human rights play an increasingly central role in the discourses and practices of both development and transitional justice These developments can be seen as part of a tendency towards convergence within the wider set of discourses and practices in global governance While this process of convergence of formerly distinct normative and conceptual fields of theory and practice has been both celebrated and critiqued at the level of theory the present collection provides through a series of studies drawn from a variety of contexts in which human rights advocacy and transitional justice initiatives are colliding with development projects programmes and objectives a more nuanced and critical account of contemporary developments The book includes essays by many of the leading experts writing at the intersection of development rights and transitional justice studies Notwithstanding the theoretical and practical challenges presented by the complex interaction of these fields the premise of the book is that it is only through engagement and dialogue among hitherto distinct fields of scholarship and practice that a better understanding of the institutional and normative issues arising in contemporary law and development and transitional justice contexts will be possible The book is designed for research and teaching at both undergraduate and graduate levels

Investigating Brain Disorders Barry Horwitz, Silvina G. Horovitz, In the last few years advances in human structural and functional neuroimaging fMRI PET EEG MEG have resulted in an explosion of studies investigating the anatomical and functional connectivity between different regions of the brain More and more studies have employed resting and task related connectivity analyses to assess functional interactions and diffusion weighted tractography to study white matter organization Many of these studies have addressed normal human function but recently a number of investigators have turned their attention to examining brain disorders The study of brain disorders is a complex endeavor not only does it require understanding the normal brain and the regions involved in a particular function but also it needs a deeper understanding of brain networks and their dynamics This Research Topic will provide the scientific community with an overview of how to apply connectivity methods to study brain disease and with perspectives on what are the strength and limitations of each modality For this Research Topic we solicit both reviews and original research articles on the use of brain connectivity analysis with non human or human models to explore neurological psychiatric developmental and neurodegenerative disorders from a system perspective Connectivity studies that have focused on one or more of the following will be of particular interest 1 detection of abnormal functional structural connectivity 2 neural plasticity assessed by changes in connectivity in patients with brain disorders 3 assessment of therapy using connectivity measures 4 relation of connectivity changes to behavioral changes Biology-I (Zoology) 2022-23 TGT/PGT/GIC/LT/GDC/UPPCS/NVS/ KVS/DSSSB
