Gender Representation in Learning Materials Abolaji S. Mustapha, Sara Mills, 2015-08-11 Representations of gender in learning materials convey an implicit message to students about attitudes towards culturally appropriate gender roles for women and men This collection takes a linguistic approach to exploring theories about gender representation within the sphere of education and textbooks and their effects on readers and students within an international context In the opening section contributors discuss theories of representation and effect challenging the conventional Althusserian model of interpellation and acknowledging the challenges of applying Western feminist models within an international context Following chapters provide detailed analyses focusing on a number of different countries Australia Japan Brazil Finland Russia Hong Kong

Nigeria Germany Qatar Tanzania and Poland Through linguistic analysis of vocabulary associated with women and men content analysis of what women and men say in textbooks and discourse analysis of the types of linguistic moves associated with women and men contributors evaluate the extent to which gendered representations in textbooks perpetuate stereotypical gender roles what the impact may be on learners and the ways that both teachers and learners interact and engage with these texts

Women's History at the Cutting Edge Autori Vari,2021-07-07T15:39:00+02:00 What have the achievements of Women s and Gender History as a field of study been in Italy To what extent has it succeeded in making women s history an integral part of academic enquiry rather than an optional specialist area What impact has the study of manhood and masculinities had on our understanding of women s lives What is the relationship between gender studies and new critical histories of colonialism and empire contact zones cross cultural encounters and racialisation How is new work on cultural geography and spatial categories impacting our historical understandings of bodily differences The articles collected here are inspired by these questions previously posed by Karen Offen and Chen Yan to an international group of historians They discuss several critical themes including the challenges the field has experienced in the Italian institutional context and which it continues to face today how we can move the conversation beyond Italy and Europe to other international arenas and how to expand the research on topics like the history of masculinities gay and lesbian studies colonial studies and global history

Globalistics and globalization studies Leonid E. Grinin,Ilya V. Ilyin,Peter Herrmann,Andrey V. Korotayev,2016-01-01 The present volume is the fifth in the series of yearbooks with the title Globalistics and Globalization Studies The subtitle of the present volume is Global Transformations and Global Future We become more and more accustomed to think globally and to see global processes And our future can all means be global However is this statement justified Indeed in recent years many have begun to claim that globalization has stalled that we are rather dealing with the process of anti globalization Will not we find ourselves at some point again in an edifice spanning across the globe but divided into national apartments separated by walls of high tariffs and mutual suspicion Of course some setbacks are always possible because the process of globalization cannot develop smoothly It is a process which is itself emerging from contradictions and is shaped by a new contradiction They often go much further than underlying systemic changes allow They break forward as the vanguard of a victorious army and then often meet resistance of various social and political forces and may suddenly start to roll back just at the moment when everyone expects their further offensive We believe that this is what is happening with globalization at present The yearbook will be interesting to a wide range of researchers teachers students and all those who are concerned about global issues Bulletin [English Ed] [New Series]
