evolutions of Curriculum as Political Text and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 1973 disclosed certain contributory facets to teacher disillusionment in an inclusive high school environment A diminishing sense of professional self efficacy self empowerment and optimism stemmed primarily from the political machinations of a hidden curriculum and a misapplication of an inclusive classroom practice The process used to arrive at these conclusions was heuristic research wherein outward perceptions and realities assumed meaning vis a vis inward reflection and introspection disclosing an unequivocal new awareness illumination and enlightenment Such personal enrichment however arrived only after a journey of self unfolded through the three phases of heuristic research Immersion Acquisition and Realization First and foremost this was a human study that examined specific elements contributing to teacher disillusionment During Immersion disquieting professional life experiences formed the preliminary data through which and from which was extrapolated an essence or meaning that ultimately assumed form through autobiographical narrative The second phase Acquisition included input from a variety of sources ranging from texts literature and discourses to federal legislation and law review to human subjects studies What was acquired then scrutinized was new knowledge relative to disillusionment in the inclusive classroom especially with regard to curriculum as political text Finally the Realization Phase aggregated and synthesized the components disclosed in Immersion and Acquisition which led to a dynamic coming together of seemingly disparate elements ultimately affirming a sense of professionalism and validating search of self

The researchED Guide to Assessment: An evidence-informed guide for teachers Sarah Donarski, Tom Bennett, 2020-07-20 A teacher s job is to create an environment where our students engagement in learning proceeds towards an intended direction In order for this to occur we must form a bridge between the teaching of material in the classroom and how the learning of that information is being processed and manipulated by our students The only way we can do this effectively is through the process of assessment Recent theoretical history on how to effectively establish and implement assessment strategies into policy has caused much confusion it is high time to consider how assessment marking and feedback have changed over the years so that conversations about how best to move forward can begin In this researchED Guide to Assessment Sarah Donarski brings together chapters by Dylan Wiliam Tom Sherrington Alison Peacock and many others to consider the debates critique the strategies and find solutions that not only better the progress of pupils but also assist the wellbeing and manageability of workload for staff
