The Parisian Jazz Chronicles Mike Zwerin, 2008-10-01 In his Beat like jaunt through the Parisian and European jazz scene Mike Zwerin is not unlike Jack Kerouac Mezz Mezzrow or Hunter S Thompson writers to whom for different reasons he owes some allegiance What makes him special is his devotion to the troubled musicians he idolizes and a passion for music that is blessedly contagious Many jazz fans will know Mike Zwerin for his witty irreverent and undeniably hip music reviews and articles in the International Herald Tribune that have entertained us for decades Based in Paris or rather stuck there as Zwerin likes to say he has been a music critic for the Trib since 1979 Zwerin also had a distinguished career as a trombonist When he was just eighteen years old he was invited by Miles Davis to play alongside Gerry Mulligan John Lewis and Max Roach in the band that was immortalized as The Birth of the Cool The Parisian Jazz Chronicles offers an engaging personal account of the jazz scene in Paris in the 1980s and 1990s Zwerin writes lovingly but unsparingly about figures he knew and interviewed such as Dexter Gordon Freddy Heineken Miles Davis Bob Dylan Chet Baker Wayne Shorter and Melvin Van Peebles Against this background Zwerin tells about his own life split allegiances to journalism and music and to America and France his solitary battle for sobriety a failing marriage and fatherhood

Marx, A French Passion Jean-Numa Ducange, Anthony Burlaud, 2023-02-27 Despite the collapse of Soviet style socialism the spectre of Marx still haunts the French imagination This is no accident in a country whose intellectual life and political history have long been marked by his multiple presences This volume offers a historical and sociological insight into the way his thought has been received in the French context from his own lifetime to the present Analysing Marx's place and influence in the French intellectual political and artistic debate across the political spectrum and even in the French speaking colonial world it helps us understand the uses and misuses of an uvre of paramount importance

The Passion of Michel Foucault James Miller, 2000 Based on extensive new research and a bold interpretation of the man and his texts The Passion of Michel Foucault is a startling look at one of this century's most influential philosophers It chronicles every stage of Foucault's personal and professional odyssey from his early interest in dreams to his final preoccupation with sexuality and the nature of personal identity

Reinventing Babel in Medieval French Emma Campbell, 2023-09-09 How can untranslatability help us to think about the historical as well as the cultural and linguistic dimensions of translation For the past two centuries theoretical debates about translation have responded to the idea that translation overcomes linguistic and cultural incommensurability while never inscribing full equivalence More recently untranslatability has been foregrounded in projects at the intersections between translation studies and other disciplines notably philosophy and comparative literature The critical turn to untranslatability re-emphasizes the importance of translation's negotiation with foreignness or difference and prompts further reflection on how that might be understood historically philosophically and ethically If translation never replicates a source exactly what does it mean to communicate

some elements and not others What or who determines what is translatable or what can or cannot be recontextualized What linguistic political cultural or historical factors condition such determinations Central to these questions is the way translation negotiates with and inscribes asymmetries among languages and cultures operations that are inevitably ethical and political as well as linguistic This book explores how approaching questions of translatability and untranslatability through premodern texts and languages can inform broader interdisciplinary conversations about translation as a concept and a practice Working with case studies drawn from the francophone cultures of Flanders England and northern France it explores how medieval texts challenge modern definitions of language text and translation and in so doing how such texts can open sites of variance and non identity within what later became the hegemonic global languages we know today

A Passion For Trees Maggie Campbell-Culver, 2014-03-27 Given the extent of his influence on 17th century life and his lasting impact on the British landscape it is remarkable that no book has been written before about John Evelyn He was a longstanding friend of Samuel Pepys who wrote of him A most excellent person he is and must be allowed a little for conceitedness but he may well be so being a man so much above others a founder member of the Royal Society and a prolific writer and diarist He was an early advocate of the garden city but his most important work was Sylva a Discourse of Forest Trees Sylva was presented to the Royal Society to promote the planting of timber trees for the supply of the Navy the employment and advantage of the poor as well as the ornamenting of the nation He was responsible for the first great raft of tree planting and for a great influx of tree introductions to Britain Maggie Campbell Culver's book like Sylva has at its core a section detailing the characteristics history and uses of 33 trees incorporating the advice Evelyn gave and demonstrating its relevance still in the 20th century Not only was Evelyn probably the first horticultural writer to show an appreciation of the aesthetic benefits of trees in our landscape he is shown to be a founder father of the modern conservation movement
