

Anatomy of a Wave Worksheet Answers

Objective: Identify the parts of a wave and draw your own diagrams of waves.

Background: Many types of waves exist, including electromagnetic waves and mechanical waves. Waves move in different ways and have different properties.

Part 1

In the diagram below, identify the parts of a wave by using the provided definitions.

- # 5 = crest The highest point of the wave above the line of origin.
- # 2 = trough The lowest point of the wave below the line of origin.
- # 1 = line of origin Signifies the original position of the medium.
- # 3 = wavelength The distance between two consecutive crests.
- # 4 = amplitude The distance from the line of origin to a crest or trough of a wave.

Part 2

On separate sheets of graph paper, draw four different waves with the following measurements. Label the parts and include the measurements.

wave #	crest	trough	wavelength
1	1 cm	1 cm	2 cm
2	3.5 cm	3.5 cm	2.5 cm
3	.5 cm	.5 cm	3 cm
4	2 cm	2cm	.5 cm

Concluding question: State which wave you think has the highest frequency and which might have the lowest frequency. Explain the reasons for your selections.

#4 has the highest frequency because it has the shortest wavelength, and frequency is inversely proportional to wavelength.

#3 has the lowest frequency because it has the longest wavelength, and frequency is inversely proportional to wavelength.

The text carefully examines how issues in psychology reflect and affect concepts that lie outside the field of psychology's technical concerns as a science and profession. This new edition features expanded attention on psychoanalysis after its founding as well as new developments in cognitive science, artificial intelligence, and behavioral economics. Throughout the book, it strengthens its exploration of psychological ideas and the cultures in which they developed and reinforces the connections between psychology, modernism, and postmodernism. The textbook covers scientific, applied, and professional psychology and is appropriate for higher-level undergraduate and graduate students.
