Pursuing quality education in Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine Francesca Gimigliano, Maria Gabriella Ceravolo, Jorge Lains, 2023-08-15 High quality rehabilitation care represents a constitutive element of health systems worldwide The harmonization of staff education both at the undergraduate and postgraduate level is a key element for ensuring the highest standard of rehabilitation care International bodies like the UEMS Board for Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine PRM or the International Society for PRM have already delivered regulatory documents setting standards in postgraduate PRM education. The implementation of such rules is to be validated worldwide with special attention to low and middle income countries. This Research Topic aims to stimulate awareness in the scientific community especially for those involved in postgraduate education and policy making decisions. It will highlight the need for developing competency based education as a powerful mechanism to align education and training with health system priorities. This holds particular value for resource limited countries where the knowledge and skills of rehabilitation doctors need to reflect not only the population's health profile but also the strengths and weaknesses e.g. workforce gaps and maldistributions of the health system. This goal can be achieved through sharing experiences between those who have engaged themselves in the process of program development, curriculum design and competency based education in rehabilitation. Over the last 25 years the number of papers addressing the issue of residency education in PRM has exponentially increased testifying the interest towards the role of rehabilitation and more specifically of the PRM doctors as leaders of the rehabilitation team.

Introduction to Teaching Gene E. Hall, Linda F. Quinn, Donna M. Gollnick, 2018-11-29. An ideal introductory text for aspiring teachers. Introduction to Teaching: Making a Difference in Student Learning is grounded in the realities and complexities found in today's schools. Acclaimed authors Gene E. Hall, Linda F. Quinn, and Donna M. Gollnick thoroughly prepare readers to make a difference as teachers, presenting firsthand stories and evidence based practices while offering a student centered approach to learning. The authors focus on how to address one of the biggest challenges facing many of today's schools: ensuring that all students are learning and help teachers prioritize student learning as their primary focus. From true to life challenges that future teachers will face such as high stakes testing, reduced funding, low retention, and Common Core State Standards to the inspiration and joy they will experience throughout their teaching careers, the Third Edition paints an importantly authentic picture of the real life of a teacher.

Neuroinflammation and Behaviour Luba Sominsky, Adam K. Walker, Deborah M. Hodgson, 2015-07-21. The brain and immune system are involved in an intricate network of bidirectional communication. This relationship is vital for optimal physiological and psychological development and functioning but can also result in unwanted outcomes. In particular, this interaction plays an important role in cognition, mood, and behaviour. Neuroinflammation is known to contribute to neurological and affective disorders including impaired learning and memory, depressive anxiety, and schizoaffective symptoms as well as pain. The development of these conditions often occurs on the backdrop of pre-existing physical illnesses which give rise to increased activation of the immune system such as cancer, obesity, infection, and autoimmune disorders. Similarly, psychological states can alter regulation of the immune system. This has been most extensively studied in the context of stress and immune function. Understanding the underlying mechanisms that lead to the onset of inflammation induced neuropathology and stress induced immune suppression will contribute to the development of novel and effective treatment strategies for both the disease and its neurological side effects. In this research topic we explored the relationship between the immune system and the brain throughout life We include both original research and review papers from animal clinical and molecular perspectives      Theorizing Teaching and Learning in Asia and Europe John Chi-Kin Lee, Kerry J. Handbook of Women and Competition Maryanne L. Fisher,2017-08-14 While women are generally perceived to be less competitive than men women compete in many ways and in a variety of situations Women try to make themselves look more attractive to draw the attention of a desirable mate They will use gossip as a form of informational warfare to influence reputations They compete as mothers to gain access to resources that directly influence the health of their children They use selfies posted on social media to manipulate others perceptions Women compete all of their lives in the womb through adolescence and adulthood and into their elder years The topic of women s competition has gained significant momentum over the years Edited by Maryanne L Fisher The Oxford Handbook of Women and Competition provides readers with direct evidence of this growth and is one of the first scholarly volumes to focus specifically on this topic Fisher and her team of contributors offer a definitive worldview of the current state of knowledge regarding competition among women today Many of the chapters are grounded within an evolutionary framework allowing for authors to investigate the adaptive nature of women s competitive behaviors motivations and cognition Other chapters rely on alternative frameworks with contributors also asserting that socio cultural forces are the culprit shaping women s competitive drives Additionally several contributors focus their attention on issues faced by adolescent girls and explore the developmental trajectories for young women through adulthood Designed to serve as a source of inspiration for future research and direction The Oxford Handbook of Women and Competition is a stand out scholarly text focusing on the many competitive forces driving women today
