- As is true for all other forms of light, ultraviolet light is also made up of photons. The only difference between ultraviolet and other forms of light is the frequency of the photons. Ultraviolet photons have a higher frequency than visible light photons, which means they have more energy. This is why ultraviolet light can cause sunburn and other skin damage, while visible light cannot. The energy of a photon is directly proportional to its frequency, so higher frequency light has more energy per photon. This is why ultraviolet light is more effective at killing bacteria and viruses than visible light. It is also why ultraviolet light is used in tanning beds to make your skin appear tanned. The photons in ultraviolet light have enough energy to break the bonds in the DNA of bacteria and viruses, which kills them. This is why ultraviolet light is used in hospitals to sterilize equipment and in food processing to kill bacteria. It is also used in the tanning industry to make your skin appear tanned.
