

REFLECTIVE TEACHING

DEFINITION

Reflective teaching is a process where teachers reflect on their own teaching practices and learn from their own experiences.

This type of reflection allows teachers to see what works well in their classrooms and what needs improvement. Reflective teaching also helps teachers to understand the impact that their teaching has on students.

EXAMPLES

Examples of reflective teaching include:

- Observing other teachers and comparing their practice to your own.
- Taking notes on your own teaching practice and thinking about ways to improve.
- Asking for feedback from your students to achieve self-improvement.

Documenting Learning with ePortfolios Tracy Penny Light, Helen L. Chen, John C. Ittelson, 2011-11-18 Documenting Learning with ePortfolios provides higher education instructors with a theory to practice approach to understanding the pedagogy behind ePortfolios and to helping students use them to record and reflect on their learning in multiple contexts. The authors outline a framework of six critical iterative tasks to undertake when implementing ePortfolios for student success. Filled with real life models of successful ePortfolio projects, the book also includes guidance for faculty development to support the use of ePortfolios and covers the place of ePortfolios in institutional assessment efforts. Finally, the authors offer considerations for deciding on which technological tools to deploy in implementing a successful ePortfolio initiative. These authors achieve the very rare accomplishment of combining their years of practical experience, broad conceptual and research underpinnings, and incredibly useful examples and applications into a single concise volume for enhancing student learning through an ePortfolio approach to our shared educational purpose.

TERREL L RHODES, vice president, Office of Quality Curriculum and Assessment, Association of American Colleges and Universities. Educators keep asking for more information about how to use electronic portfolios. This book provides answers, guidelines, examples, and scholarly insights about learning based in the wisdom of the ePortfolio community of practice, what a powerful addition to our collective knowledge. I am thankful to the authors for this boost to our field and for providing a blueprint for implementers to follow.

TRENT BATSON, executive director, The Association for Authentic, Experiential, and Evidence-Based Learning.

Lifelong Learning Frances Ward, 2013-01-25 This book on ministerial formation and supervision provides an accessible and thorough resource. It explores the nature of ministry and formation for 21st Century church and public life. It argues for the importance of supervision in the learning contexts of placement, parish, and pastorate and presents an exciting model of supervision as reflective practice that draws on existing literature from different disciplines, including other helping professions, literature, and practical theology, and the methods and insights of Clinical Pastoral Education interpreted within a British context. Chapters cover stimulating and useful areas for consideration by the theological educator and ministerial student, such as doing theological reflection in context, resistance to learning, coping with loss and failure, dynamics of power in ministry, and issues of transculturalism in ministry and issues of gender and sexuality. It also offers ways in which the effectiveness of placement learning can be evaluated.

Communication Skills for Surgeons Benjamin Patel, Abhay Rane, 2022-09-28 Historically, communication was described as a secondary or soft skill for surgeons. Now, astute communication, both with patients and with colleagues, forms a fundamental element of holistic surgical practice and comprises a core component of the Non-Technical Skills for Surgeons that are increasingly recognised in modern surgical practice. Good communication is required during each patient interaction: history taking, explanation, consent, breaking bad news, and managing difficult encounters such as the demanding or angry patient. Good communication with patients improves patient trust, compliance, and overall satisfaction, reduces complaints and malpractice claims. High quality communication is also fundamental when interacting with colleagues in theatre on the ward whilst making referrals and organising special tests In the busy schedules of medical professionals such communication must be succinct and relevant Team structures must empower all members to speak up so as to prevent harm being done Suboptimal communication is a root cause for the majority of serious adverse events Furthermore good communication reduces job stress and enhances satisfaction for the surgeon Good communication is not an inborn behaviour it is a learned skill that is based on key principles Studies have clearly demonstrated that education in communication improves patient outcomes and satisfaction Several frameworks have been described to facilitate good communication in certain scenarios SPIKES for breaking bad news SBAR for handover surgical briefs and de briefs to name a few This textbook will be aimed towards medical students surgical trainees and surgical consultants internationally It is relevant to every day practice examinations and OSCEs such as medical finals MRCS FRCS and international equivalents and interviews where role play is often featured
