Jones, 2010-12-28 In this completely revised and updated edition including eight new chapters Jeffrey Jones charts the evolution and maturation of political entertainment television by examining The Daily Show with Jon Stewart The Colbert Report Politically Incorrect Real Time with Bill Maher and Michael Moore's TV Nation and The Awful Truth This volume investigates how and why these shows have been central locations for the critique of political and economic power and an important resource for citizens during numerous political crises In an age of Truthiness fake news and humorous political talk have proven themselves viable forms of alternative reporting and critical means for ascertaining truth and in the process questioning the legitimacy of news media's role as the primary mediator of political life The book also addresses the persistent claims that these programs have cynical effects and create misinformed young citizens demonstrating instead how such programming provides for an informed active and meaningful citizenship The new edition takes account of the many changes that have occurred in television and political culture since Entertaining Politics initial release Hearsay Handbook David F. Previous edition 2nd published in 1983 Fortitudine, 1996 NATO's Lessons in Crisis Heidi Hardt, 2018 In crisis management operations strategic errors can cost lives Some international organizations IOs learn from these failures whereas others tend to repeat them Given that they have high rates of turnover how is it possible that any IO retains knowledge about the past This book introduces an argument for how and why IOs develop institutional memory from their efforts to manage crises Findings indicate that the design of an IO's learning infrastructure e.g. lessons learned offices and databases can inadvertently disincentivize IO elites from using it to share knowledge about strategic errors Elites high level officials in IOs perceive reporting to be a risky endeavour In response they develop institutional memory by creating and using informal processes including transnational interpersonal networks private documentation and conversations during crisis management exercises The result is an institutional memory that is highly dependent on only a handful of individuals The book draws on the author's interviews and a survey experiment with 120 NATO elites across four countries Cases of NATO crisis management in Afghanistan Libya and Ukraine further illustrate the development of institutional memory Findings challenge existing research on organizational learning by suggesting that formal learning processes alone are insufficient for ensuring that learning happens The book also offers recommendations to policymakers for strengthening the learning capacity of IOs
