

Teaching is part of a life-long learning process. For effective teaching, teachers must be good learners. This certificate program in college teaching provided me with many opportunities to think about my teaching career. In this section of my teaching ePortfolio, I will answer several questions regarding teaching, ePortfolio, and the certificate program.

What was the most striking or surprising thing you learned about yourself and about teaching as you developed your ePortfolio?

Through the ePortfolio development process, I realized that teaching is one of the most difficult activities I will perform in my life. Knowing or understanding subjects does not necessarily mean I will be able to teach the subjects well. To enhance students' learning, I must create an appropriate learning environment through various teaching strategies and presentation methods. There is no single best solution; I should continuously try new things and improve my teaching skills.

Based on the materials you wrote, what will be your greatest strength as a teacher?

As I discussed in my teaching philosophy statement, I believe in the importance of repeated exposure to a subject. For "repeated exposure," I should prepare well-organized class materials so students can recall previously taught materials easily. My greatest strength as a teacher is my organization skill. I will prepare very organized lesson plans and slides for my classes.

In addition, I always like to explore new subjects – I am very flexible and will change my lesson plans if needed. I will continuously revise my teaching materials. This way, I can provide the most recent, updated information to students.

What will be your greatest challenge as a teacher?

Increasing students' engagement is the greatest challenge as a teacher, especially in the basic lower-level courses. Many students may take such basic introductory courses without strong motivation. As a student, grades are important, of course; however, I want to teach students that applying (or at least recalling) what they learned in their classes, even after college, is much more important than just focusing on class grades.

In addition, balancing between "be strict" and "be flexible" is also a great challenge for me. I want students to follow my policy, such as late work policy. However, I want to be flexible to meet students' needs and interests. Being too strict may damage students' interest and participation in the class, but being too flexible can also hurt students' engagement in the class. I should improve my teaching method to create a good teaching and learning environment.

How did the combination of workshops, experimental learning, assignment development, syllabi construction, and lesson plan creation lead to new understanding about teaching?

The combination of teaching workshops, teaching classes, class material development, and actual teaching provided a great opportunity to enhance my teaching skills. I was able to learn basic teaching principles from teaching classes, apply teaching principles in class material development and actual teaching, and learn new teaching methods and issues from teaching

 Hensel, 2023-07-03 Co published with the Council on Undergraduate Research Undergraduate research has long been recognized as a high impact practice HIP but has unfortunately been offered only to juniors and seniors and to very few of them often in summer programs This book shows how to engage students in authentic research experiences built into the design of courses in the first two years thus making the experience available to a much greater number of students Research that is embedded in a course especially general education courses addresses the issue of how to expand undergraduate research to all students Research has shown that students who have early experiences in undergraduate research are more likely to pursue further research prior to and after graduation This is also an issue of social justice because it makes the benefits of undergraduate research available to students who must work during the academic year and in the summer It is widely accepted that the skills developed through undergraduate research help prepare students for their future careers The book addresses all aspects of the topic including What are appropriate expectations for research in the first two years How to design appropriate course based research for first and second year students How to mentor a class rather than individual students How students can disseminate the results of their research Possible citizen science projects appropriate for the first and second years Providing additional resources available to support course based research in the first two years Designed for faculty at four year and two year colleges and including examples from the sciences the social sciences and the humanities the strategies and methods described can be adapted to disciplines not specifically mentioned in the book Many faculty are hesitant to engage first and second year students in undergraduate research because they worry students don't know enough to conduct authentic research in their discipline because they worry about the time it will take to develop activities for these students and because they wonder how they can mentor a whole class of students doing research The authors have successfully dealt with these issues and provide examples of how it's done
