Relationships and Biodiversity

A laboratory activity for the Living Environment

Background:

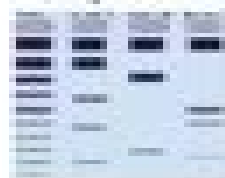

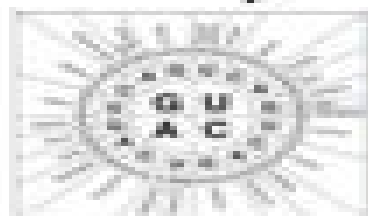

Botanocurcus is a valuable plant because it produces curc, a compound used for treating certain kinds of cancer. Curc cannot be produced in the laboratory. Botanocurcus grows very slowly and is on the endangered species list, so its ability to provide curc in large quantities is limited.

Species that are more closely related to Botanocurcus are more likely to produce the important substance curc because their DNA is similar. If you remember, DNA codes the directions for making proteins and curc is a protein. Three similar plant species that are plentiful (X, Y, and Z) maybe related to Botanocurcus. You will work as a researcher to:

- gather structural and molecular evidence to determine which plant species is most closely related to the hypothetical species (curc: it is not real), Botanocurcus
- use this evidence to decide which plant species is most likely to serve as a source of the important substance curc.

How are we going to figure out which plant is most closely related?
We will use some different tests to complete the task.

- Three different forms of structural evidence.
- An enzyme catalyzed reaction test
- DNA gel Electrophoresis
- Paper Chromatography
- Molecular evidence
