Priests and Programmers J. Stephen Lansing,2009-01-10 For the Balinese the whole of nature is a perpetual resource through centuries of carefully directed labor the engineered landscape of the island s rice terraces has taken shape According to Stephen Lansing the need for effective cooperation in water management links thousands of farmers together in hierarchies of productive relationships that span entire watersheds Lansing describes the network of water temples that once managed the flow of irrigation water in the name of the Goddess of the Crater Lake Using the techniques of ecological simulation modeling as well as cultural and historical analysis Lansing argues that the symbolic system of temple rituals is not merely a reflection of utilitarian constraints but also a basic ingredient in the organization of production Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City-Region Christina Culwick,Samkelisiwe Khanyile,Kerry Bobbins,Stuart Dunsmore,Anne Fitchett,Lerato Monama,Raishan Naidu,Gillian Sykes,Jennifer van den Bussche,Marco

Vieira,2019-12-11 In the context of heightened climate variability thinking about ways to redesign our urban areas with more sustainable infrastructure solutions is becoming more and more important Green infrastructure GI is emerging as an alternative approach to traditional grey infrastructure in urban planning and development Its emergence can be understood in terms of the growing demand for infrastructure and services increased concerns over natural resource constraints and climate change and the negative impacts associated with traditional approaches to designing and building cities It has been proposed that GI can provide the same services as traditional infrastructure at a similar capital cost while also providing a range of additional benefits However despite the increasing examples of successful urban GI applications traditional infrastructure continues to dominate due to the lack of systematic evidence to support GI implementation As a result there has been an increase in calls from policy and decision makers for a greater evidence base on the benefits of GI as well as for practical guidelines on its implementation Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City Region is the GCRO s third report in its ongoing research into Green assets and infrastructure The first two reports in this project series were more theoretically grounded and policy oriented whereas this third report is more practical in nature The first report explored the basic principles around GI assessed the extent of ecological features in Gauteng and the way governments in the province think about planning and maintenance of green assets The second report responded to some of the challenges identified in the first report and in particular the importance of government officials and practitioners in exploring how international green infrastructure plans could be applied in the Gauteng context This third report builds on the findings of the aforementioned reports and the project s CityLab series which highlighted the need to build an evidence base as critical for garnering support for and as well as enhancing investment in the GI approach Unlike the more theoretically grounded earlier reports this report comprises four technical sections and practical reflections on how a GI approach could be incorporated into urban planning in the GCR and in other similar urban contexts

Water Infrastructure for Sustainable Communities Xiaodi Hao,Vladimir Novotny,Valerie Nelson,2010-07-31 A new model for water management is emerging worldwide in response to water shortages polluted waterways climate change and loss of biodiversity Cities and towns are questioning the ecological and financial sustainability of big pipe water stormwater and sewer systems and are searching for lighter footprint more sustainable solutions Pilot projects are being built that use treat store and reuse water locally and that build distributed designs into restorative hydrology This book has been developed from the conference on Sustainable Water Infrastructure for Villages and Cities of the Future SWIF2009 held in November 2009 in Beijing China that brought together an international gathering of experts in urban water and drainage infrastructure landscape architecture economics environmental law citizen participation utility management green building and science and technology development Water Infrastructure for Sustainable Communities China and the World reveals how imaginative concepts are being developed and implemented to ensure that cities towns and villages and their water resources can become ecologically sustainable and provide clean water With both urban and rural waters as a focal point the links between water quality and hydrology landscape and the broader concepts of green cities villages and smart development are explored The book focuses on decentralized concepts of potable water stormwater and wastewater management that would provide clean water It results in water management systems that would be resilient to extreme events such as excessive flows due to extreme meteorological events severe droughts and deteriorated water and urban ecosystem quality A particular emphasis is placed on learning lessons from the many innovative projects being designed in China and other initiatives around the world The principal audience for the book is university faculty and students scientists in research institutes water professionals governmental organizations NGOs urban landscape architects and planners Visit the IWA WaterWiki to read and share material related to this title <http://www.iwawaterwiki.org/xwiki/bin/view/Articles>

Subcommittee on Water Resources and Environment, 2018 Planning, 2009 Climate Change and Sustainable Development Malcolm Dowden, 2013-12-19 With the profile of environmental issues at an all time high this book provides a much needed examination of the related effects of these issues on the property industry Within the property industry at the moment it is difficult to assume an overview of these issues and to properly assess the implications of climate change for commercial property This is the first book that pulls together the different elements of climate change into one coherent argument explaining what needs to be done to ensure the future of the property market The main issues discussed are mitigation adaptation energy efficiency and property valuation in addition to providing informed commentary on the laws and practical guidance to practitioners

Green Transportation Infrastructure United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology (2007). Subcommittee on Technology and Innovation, 2007 Green Infrastructure and Urban Climate Resilience Keerththana Kumareswaran, Guttilla Yugantha Jayasinghe, 2023-08-29 This book aims to cover most subject areas of green infrastructure such as components multi functionality and integration to build environment contribution to urban sustainability sustainable and smart city development urban climate change nexus green buildings and rating systems economic assessment and quantification of green infrastructure The impending climate crisis as well as the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic has highlighted the importance of green infrastructure in and around cities prompting a call for more functional and sustainable urban planning and design A number of recent studies have shown that green infrastructure provides a wide range of ecosystem functions and services critical to human well being and urban sustainability which is especially important during climatic and health crises In this book the authors emphasize the importance of existing green infrastructure in coping with climate change induced stresses such as increasing climate variability and extreme temperature and precipitation events as well as contributing to urban dwellers physical and mental health Green infrastructure in both cases plays a significant role in providing urban areas with resilience capacity which is critical to urban sustainability The authors also emphasize the importance of expanding and improving green infrastructure particularly in vulnerable areas through integrative and participatory processes Appropriate integration of green gray infrastructure and development of climate resilient cities is the core theme of this publication Further it emphasizes sustainable development which has become an imperative requirement to the world to move forward and climate change built environment nexus the most critical global crisis Though several books were published globally on the green infrastructure and urban resilience individually books are rarely published combining both disciplines This book identifies and addresses the gap through comprehensively discussing on both interlinked areas which is essential for the sustainable urban development Further it explores on urban climate resilience urban sprawl urbanization resilience drivers essentials of city resilience policy implications challenges and future perspectives This book is a useful fundamental guide in practical applications of green infrastructure in built environment in sustainability context Further it enlightens on the significance of transforming the conventional building construction trend to sustainable urban planning designs and building development exploring on the strategic pathway on building urban climate resilience while signifying the importance of healthy built environment through discussing on the nexus between climate change and built environment
