Reproductive Decision Making In A Macro Micro Perspective:

Reproductive Decision-Making in a Macro-Micro Perspective Dimiter Philipov, Aart C. Liefbroer, Jane E.

Klobas, 2014-10-17 This book provides new insights into the significant gap that currently exists between desired and actual fertility in Europe. It examines how people make decisions about having children and demonstrates how the macro level environment affects micro level decision making. Written by an international team of leading demographers and psychologists, the book presents the theoretical and methodological developments of a three year European Commission funded project named REPRO: Reproductive Decision Making in a Macro Micro Perspective. It also provides an overview of the research conducted by REPRO researchers both during and after the project. The book examines fertility intentions from quantitative and qualitative perspectives, demonstrates how the macro level environment affects micro level decision making, and offers a multi level analysis of fertility related norms across Europe. Overall, this book offers insight into how people make decisions to have children when they are most likely to act on their decisions and how different social and policy settings affect their decisions and actions. It will appeal to researchers, graduate students, and policy advisors with an interest in fertility, demography, and life course decision making.

Advanced Statistical Methods for the Analysis of Large Data-Sets

Agostino Di Ciaccio, Mauro Coli, Jose Miguel Angulo Ibanez, 2012-03-14 The theme of the meeting was Statistical Methods for the Analysis of Large Data Sets. In recent years, there has been increasing interest in this subject. In fact, a huge quantity of information is often available, but standard statistical techniques are usually not well suited to managing this kind of data. The conference serves as an important meeting point for European researchers working on this topic, and a number of European statistical societies participated in the organization of the event. The book includes 45 papers from a selection of the 156 papers accepted for presentation and discussed at the conference on Advanced Statistical Methods for the Analysis of Large Data sets.

The Social Meaning of Children and Fertility Change in Europe Anne Lise Ellingsaeter, An-Magritt

Jensen, Merete Lie, 2013-03-05 Low fertility in Europe has given rise to the notion of a fertility crisis. This book shifts the attention from fertility decline to why people do have children, asking what children mean to them. It investigates what role children play in how young adults plan their lives and why, and how young adults make the choices they do. The book aims to expand our comprehension of the complex structures and cultures that influence reproductive choice and explores three key aspects of fertility choices: the processes towards having or not having children and how they are underpinned by negotiations and ambivalences; how family policies, labour markets, and personal relations interact in young adults' fertility choices; social differentiation in fertility choice; how fertility rationales and reasoning may differ among women and men and across social classes. Based on empirical studies from six nations: France, Scandinavia, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Germany, and Italy, representing the high and low end of European variation in fertility rates, the book shows how different economic, political, and cultural contexts interact in young adults' fertility rationales. It will be of interest to students and scholars of sociology anthropology demography and gender studies

Entrepreneurship and Development in the 21st Century

Bruno S. Sergi, Cole C. Scanlon, 2019-04-29 The 21st century has brought about new trends in entrepreneurship and development In this insightful volume a cast of expert contributors explore how these new trends along with a variety of political cultural and social influences have affected entrepreneurship in all of its manifestations

Public Childcare

Provision and Fertility Behavior Sandra Krapf, 2014-02-19 The author analyzes the relationship between the availability of public childcare for children under age three and the decision to have a first child One would expect that providing women with the option of returning to work soon after childbirth would reduce the anticipated negative effects of having a child on a woman's career However existing research results on this relationship are inconsistent

Analytical Family Demography

Robert Schoen, 2018-09-12 In this book new mathematical and statistical techniques that permit more sophisticated analysis are refined and applied to questions of current concern in order to understand the forces that are driving the recent dramatic changes in family patterns The areas examined include the impact of the evolving Second Demographic Transition where complex patterns of gender dynamics and social change are re-orienting family life New analyses of marriage cohabitation union dynamics and union dissolution provide a fresh look at the changing family life cycle emerging patterns of partner choice and the impact of union dissolution on the life course The demography of kinship is explored and the importance of parity progression to the generation of the kinship web is highlighted The methodology of population projections by family status is examined and new results presented that demonstrate how recognizing family status advances long term policy objectives especially with regard to children and the elderly This book applies up to date methods to examine the demography of the family and will be of value to sociologists demographers and all those who are interested in the family

State of World Population 2025 United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), 2025-06-10 In 2025 the global fertility rate is making headlines In many countries birth rates are declining leading policymakers to sound the alarm over the potential for population collapse In an attempt to mitigate the demographic changes they face some governments are employing drastic measures to persuade women to have more children Despite this fact millions of people around the world are unable to have the number of children they want In every country regardless of total fertility rate the most consequential reproductive decision a human being can make when whether and with whom to have a child is being undermined UNFPA's new State of World Population report argues that the real crisis we are facing is not a problem of demographic change It is a crisis of reproductive agency

Childlessness in Europe: Contexts, Causes, and Consequences

Michaela Kreyenfeld, Dirk Konietzka, 2017-01-11 This book is published open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This open access book provides an overview of childlessness throughout Europe It offers a collection of papers written by leading demographers and sociologists that examine contexts causes and consequences of childlessness in countries throughout the region The book features data from all over Europe It specifically highlights patterns of childlessness in Germany France the United Kingdom

Finland Sweden Austria and Switzerland An additional chapter on childlessness in the United States puts the European experience in perspective The book offers readers such insights as the determinants of lifelong childlessness whether governments can and should counteract increasing childlessness how the phenomenon differs across social strata and the role economic uncertainties play In addition the book also examines life course dynamics and biographical patterns assisted reproduction as well as the consequences of childlessness Childlessness has been increasing rapidly in most European countries in recent decades This book offers readers expert analysis into this issue from leading experts in the field of family behavior From causes to consequences it explores the many facets of childlessness throughout Europe to present a comprehensive portrait of this important demographic and sociological trend Fertility Rates and Population Decline A. Buchanan, A. Rotkirch, 2013-03-08 While many worry about population overload this book highlights the dramatic fall in fertility rates globally exploring questions such as why are parents having fewer babies Will this lead to population decline What will be the impact of a world with fewer children and can social policy reverse fertility decline Social Networks and Family Formation Processes Sylvia Keim, 2011-06-24 How do young adults decide to become parents or to remain childless Is this an individual choice a couple's decision or are there other social influences involved such as social networks Using a mixed methods design Sylvia Keim combines problem centred interviews and network data collected among young adults in western Germany The author shows that personal relations strongly influence the perceptions attitudes and plans individuals express concerning parenthood She identifies basic mechanisms and channels of social influence as well as relevant network structures This book is valuable reading for academics students and policy makers interested in family research the network perspective and mixed methods research Social Background and the Demographic Life Course: Cross-National Comparisons Aart C. Liefbroer, Mioara Zoutewelle-Terovan, 2021-04-21 This open access book examines how childhood social disadvantage influences young adult demographic decision making and later life economic and well being outcomes This book in particular focuses on testing whether the consequences of childhood social disadvantage for adult outcomes differ across societies and whether these differences are shaped by the context of opportunities that societies offer to diminish the adverse impact of economic and social deprivation The book integrates a longitudinal approach and provides new insights in how the experience of childhood disadvantage e.g. low parental socio economic status family disruption influences demographic decisions in adulthood e.g. the timing of family events such as cohabitation marriage or parenthood the risk of divorce or having a child outside a partner relationship the exposure to later life loneliness poor health and economic adversity Moreover using a cross national comparative perspective it investigates whether the relationships of interest differ across nations and tests the context of opportunities hypothesis arguing that the links between childhood disadvantage and adult outcomes are weakened in societal contexts offering good opportunities for people to escape situations of deprivation To do so the book analyzes national contexts based on economic prosperity family values and norms and welfare state arrangements Wellbeing of Families in Future Europe: Challenges for Research and Policy - FAMILYPLATFORM - Families in Europe Vol. 1 Matthias Euteneuer, 2011 Wellbeing of Families in Future Europe Challenges for Research and Policy FAMILYPLATFORM Families in Europe Vol 1 Youth Transition and Social Welfare Akio Inui, Jan Skrobanek, Christian Imdorf, Birgit Reissig, Andy Biggart, 2025-10-16 This book is based on a five year joint project involving a comparative study of youth transitions and social policy security in Japan and Europe It uses a comparative model embedded in insights from previous research on youth transition and builds on comparative country case studies from Japan the United Kingdom Germany Norway and Switzerland Starting from the increasingly problematic youth transitions in Japan this book focuses on young people's transitions to adulthood in Japan and four European countries This book examines how country specific institutions and cultural norms create and resolve transition risks in the respective countries taking into consideration aspects of social policy security Chapter 5 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com Low and Lower Fertility Ronald R. Rindfuss, Minja Kim Choe, 2015-10-12 This volume examines two distinct low fertility scenarios that have emerged in economically advanced countries since the turn of the 20th century one in which fertility is at or near replacement level and the other where fertility is well below replacement It explores the way various institutions histories and cultures influence fertility in a diverse range of countries in Asia Europe North America and Australia The book features invited papers from the Conference on Low Fertility Population Aging and Population Policy held December 2013 and co sponsored by the East West Center and the Korea Institute for Health and Social Affairs KIHASA It first presents an overview of the demographic and policy implications of the two low fertility scenarios Next the book explores five countries currently experiencing low fertility rates China Hong Kong Japan Singapore and South Korea It then examines three countries that have close to replacement level fertility Australia the Netherlands and the United States Each country is featured in a separate chapter written by a demographer with expert knowledge in the area Very low fertility is linked to a number of conditions countries face including a declining population size At the same time low fertility and its effect on the age structure threatens social welfare policies This book goes beyond the technical to examine the core institutional policy and cultural factors behind this increasingly important issue It helps readers to make cross country comparisons and gain insight into how diverse institutions policies and culture shape fertility levels and patterns Dare to Share: Germany's Experience Promoting Equal Partnership in Families OECD, 2017-02-20 This review introduces the background to and issues at stake in promoting equal partnerships in families in Germany From One Child to Two Children Shibe Ni, 2023-12-30 This book dissects the reproductive intentions and behaviours of the one child generation cohort in China situated in the wider context of changing family life patterns and gendered lenses Demonstrating that the one child family is still favoured by the one child generation this book uncovers the socioeconomic dimensions and mechanisms of family relations underlying young people's decision making processes It also incorporates individual considerations and experiences of childbearing from over 50 interviews to contribute to the development of China's social policy. Whereas men's childbearing beliefs were relatively unexplored in the literature, the author included male interviewees to better reflect gender differences in relation to childbearing, employment, and family. Analysing the relationship between life routine and the desire or lack thereof to increase China's population, the author argues that the current childbearing policy fails to accommodate the needs and demands of young people, thus limiting the uptake of China's new policy. Population

Change in Europe, the Middle-East and North Africa Koenraad Matthijs, Karel Neels, Christiane Timmerman, Jacques Haers, 2016-12-05. Current demographic trends raise new questions, challenges, and controversies. Comparing demographic trends in Europe and the NAME region (North Africa and the Middle East), this book demonstrates how population change interacts with changing economic landscapes, social distinctions, and political realities. A variety of drivers contribute to demographic change in the various regions and countries considered, such as family policies, economic realities, the impact of educational differentials, and the attitudes towards marriage. On the macro level, the new trends are restructuring the age composition of populations and are reshaping the life courses of individuals and families. In turn, the impact demographic forces have on the organisation of labour markets, on fiscal policies, on the care of the elderly, on migration flows, and on political changes can be quite radical. Inhorn, Nancy J.

Smith-Hefner, 2020-12-09. The concept of Waithood was developed by political scientist Diane Singerman to describe the expanding period of time between adolescence and full adulthood as young people wait to secure steady employment and marry. The contributors to this volume employ the waithood concept as a frame for richly detailed ethnographic studies of youth in waiting from a variety of world areas, including the Middle East, Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, and the U.S., revealing that whether voluntary or involuntary, the phenomenon of youth waithood necessitates a recognition of new gender and family roles. Fertility and Childcare in East Asia Xiaogang Wu, Muzhi Zhou, Man-Yee Kan, 2024-06-03. This textbook explores recent research on the topics of gender inequalities, intergenerational support, and family in select East Asian societies, including China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Japan. East Asian societies have been undergoing rapid economic development over the last three decades; whether gender, couple relations, and families in East Asian societies have also been undergoing transformations remains less clear. The chapters in this book uncover dynamic and evolving couple and intergenerational relationships within families in East Asia, together with the persistent impact on time use, housework, and childcare. They provide a rich source for understanding gender dynamics, intergenerational relations, and childbearing and rearing in East Asia at a time when it is expected that families and gender relations in East Asia will continue to evolve with characteristics of both modern gender egalitarian values and traditional family obligations. A rare and valuable resource, this textbook will be a key resource for researchers scholars and practitioners of Sociology Development Studies Mainland China Hong Kong Taiwan Japan and Comparative studies who wish to study gender and family relations in East Asia a rapidly developing region with a shared Confucian culture The chapters in this volume were originally published in Chinese Sociological Review
