Resident Council Meeting Flyer:

The Unseen Politics of Public Housing Tiffany Gayle Chenault, 2015-08-15 The Department of Housing and Urban Development HUD emphasizes the word community for building economic development citizen participations and revitalization of facilities and services in urban and rural areas Resident Councils are one way to develop and build community among residents of public housing Despite HUD stressing community building in public housing and investing money and policies around it there are some resident councils that are not fulfilling the expectations of HUD This book is my attempt to describe and explain HUD's expectations for the resident council as an active agent for community building and the actual practices of the resident council I argue that policies and regulations of resident councils which exist to support the effectiveness of the resident council in creating and implementing community building self sufficiency and empowerment activities and goals in a public housing community may do more harm than good The Department of Housing and Urban Development invests and spends billions on Public Housing Programs 6.6 billion in 2013 The majority of the 1.2 million people who live in public housing do not live in large urban areas with thousands of people confined to a certain space The majority of public housing units 90% have fewer than 500 units These smaller units and the people that live in them tend to go unnoticed This ethnographic case study focuses on explaining and understanding the factors and constraints that exist between HUD's expectations for the resident council as an active agent for community building and the actual practices of the resident council To explain the disjunction in fact to determine if such disjunctions identified by Rivertown council members are real Using the tenets of Critical Race Theory allows us to understand what forces either real or imagined structural or cultural prevent the resident council from being an effective agent for change in the public housing community

Prevention Through Environmental Design in Problem-Solving Diane Zahm, 2011 This is a print on demand edition of a hard to find publication Crime prevention through environmental design CPTED is an approach to problem solving that asks what is it about this location that places people at risk or that results in opportunities for crime Solving a problem thus requires a detailed understanding of both crime and place and the response should consider one of the three objectives of crime prevention through environmental design control access provide opportunities to see and be seen or define ownership and encourage the maintenance of territory This guidebook explains the basic principles of CPTED and outlines a process for identifying problems evaluating the physical environment and identifying strategies that will remove or reduce opportunities for crime Illus HUD Management of Tenant Initiative Programs United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Reform and Oversight. Subcommittee on Human Resources and Intergovernmental Relations, 1997 After the Projects Lawrence J. Vale, 2019 America is in the midst of a rental housing affordability crisis More than a quarter of those that rent their homes spend more than half of their income for housing even as city leaders across the United States have been busily dismantling the nation's urban public housing projects. In After the Projects Lawrence Vale investigates the deeply rooted spatial politics of public housing development and redevelopment at a time when lower income Americans face a desperate struggle to find affordable rental housing in many cities. Drawing on more than 200 interviews with public housing residents, real estate developers and community leaders, Vale analyzes the different ways in which four major American cities implemented the federal government's HOPE VI program for public housing transformation while also providing a national picture of this program. Some cities attempted to minimize the presence of the poorest residents in their new mixed income communities but other cities tried to serve as many low income households as possible. Through examining the social, political and economic forces that underlie housing displacement, Vale develops the novel concept of governance constellations. He shows how the stars align differently in each city depending on community pressures that have evolved in response to each city's past struggles with urban renewal. This allows disparate key players to gain prominence when implementing HOPE VI redevelopment. A much needed comparative approach to the existing research on public housing. After the Projects shines a light on the broad variety of attitudes towards public housing redevelopment in American cities and identifies ways to achieve more equitable processes and outcomes for low income Americans.

How to Conduct Victimization Surveys, 1997-08. Developed for use by Public Housing Authorities, this workbook provides a guide for conducting a research effort to evaluate crime victimization intervention programs by collecting survey data from residents of public housing developments where the intervention programs are planned. Organized by the major activities in a survey research project: questionnaire design, sampling methodology, data collection, preparation, processing, analysis, the information provided in each section is designed to provide the basic steps, tools to conduct each specific part of the research project. Permanent Weekend John Michels, 2017-04-01. North of the heart of Ontario's scenic Muskoka District are the Almaguin Highlands, a loosely organized collection of villages, townships and municipalities. In the mid 1800s the region was home to loggers and farmers as well as seasonal residents in simple cottages and camps. Since then the impact of economic globalization and government policies has transformed the countryside into a luxurious recreational residential and tourist destination. John Michels investigates change in the Almaguin Highlands, exploring the modern faces of cottaging, tourism, agriculture, forestry and economic development initiatives. He shows how years of neoliberal policies have displaced agriculture and logging as the principal sources of employment in northern Ontario, generating tension and unexpected alliances between tourists, residents, loggers, farmers, developers and governmental officials over the proper uses and meanings of rural space. The repercussions of this new service oriented countryside include increased youth outmigration, decreased full time employment opportunities and an ever growing gap between the rich and the poor. A rich and detailed study based on long term interviews and fieldwork. Permanent Weekend critically explores the catalysts and outcomes of gentrifying rural areas.

Bodies, Spaces, Claims Paula Diehl, Michael Saward, 2024-12-11 There is no political representation without performance When politicians protesters and even celebrities appear in public they make or constitute political representation by performing it shaping how we view roles and institutions and imagine society Building theory through rich case studies from the festival stage to the toppling of statues and from presidential inaugurations to parliaments and council chambers the book deepens our understanding of political representation by exploring how embodied action in different spaces creates representative claims in our highly mediatized contemporary politics It shows how a performative take on representation is critical to our understanding of the symbolism of political authority the limits of democratic leadership the politics of material spaces and presences political empowerment and disempowerment and the claim to and denial of authenticity in political life

Fixing Broken Cities John Kromer, 2009-09-10 Through the insightful lens of an experienced practitioner this book describes the origin execution and impact of urban repopulation strategies initiatives designed to attract residents businesses jobs shoppers and visitors to places that had undergone decades of decline and abandonment The central question throughout the strategies explored in the book is who should benefit Who should benefit from the allocation of scarce public capital Who should enjoy the social benefits of urban development And who will populate redeveloped areas Kromer provides realistic guidance about how to move forward with strategic choices that have to be made in pursuing the best opportunities available within highly disadvantaged resource starved urban areas Each of the cases presents strategies that are strongly influenced by geography economics politics and individual leadership but they address key issues that are major concerns everywhere enlivening downtowns stabilizing and strengthening neighborhoods eliminating industrial age blight and providing quality public education options CURA Reporter, 2005 Naked Linda C.
