The French Writers' War, 1940-1953 Gisèle Sapiro, 2014-04-23 The French Writers War 1940 1953 is a remarkably thorough account of French writers and literary institutions from the beginning of the German Occupation through France's passage of amnesty laws in the early 1950s To understand how the Occupation affected French literary production as a whole Gisèle Sapiro uses Pierre Bourdieu's notion of the literary field Sapiro surveyed the career trajectories and literary and political positions of 185 writers She found that writers' stances in relation to the Vichy regime are best explained in terms of institutional and structural factors rather than ideology Examining four major French literary institutions from the conservative French Academy to the Comité national des écrivains a group formed in 1941 to resist the Occupation she chronicles the institutions' histories before turning to the ways that they influenced writers' political positions Sapiro shows how significant institutions and individuals within France's literary field exacerbated their loss of independence or found ways of resisting during the war and Occupation as well as how they were perceived after Liberation

For Better or For Worse Hung Cam Thai, 2008-02-20 Marriage is currently the number one reason people migrate to the United States and women constitute the majority of newcomers joining husbands who already reside here But little is known about these marriage and migration streams beyond the highly publicized and often sensationalized phenomena of mail order and military brides Less commonly known is that most international couples are immigrants of the same ethnicity In For Better or For Worse Hung Cam Thai takes a closer look at marriage and migration with a specific focus on the unions between Vietnamese men living in the United States and the women who marry them Weaving together a series of personal stories he underscores the ironies and challenges that these unions face He includes the voices of working class immigrant men dealing with marginalization in their adopted country These men speak about wanting traditional wives who they hope will recognize their gendered authority Meanwhile young Vietnamese college educated women undesirable to bachelors in their own country who are seeking subservient wives express a preference for men of the same ethnicity but with a more liberal outlook on gender men they imagine they will find in the United States A sense of foreboding pervades the book as Thai captures the incompatible viewpoints of the couples who appear to be separated not only geographically but ideologically
