The European Union, Africa and the Sustainable Development Goals Lars Niklasson, 2024-03-12 The European Union has high ambitions in relation to Africa and in achieving the UN Sustainable Development Goals One example is the new Africa Strategy where the EU wants to have a strong partnership with the African Union Other European policies contribute to the lofty objectives of the EU which is the world's largest donor of development aid The high ambitions are not matched by the implementation The European policies shaped by the Commission and the member states are partly contradictory and hard to fulfill locally in Africa Furthermore they are focused on intentions rather than outcomes The European policies need to be decentered to allow for the African context to play a larger role in the design and execution of policies The Sustainable Development Goals call for fundamental transformations where political and economic development are of great importance to reach the social and environmental goals This implies greater attention to the drivers and barriers for political and economic transformation in Africa It also calls for a greater interest in the relationship between donors and recipients to build trust and to find mutual gain The EU needs to recognize that it is dependent on its African partners while it simultaneously wants to influence and revise some of the African policies

Challenges for the Democratisation Process in Tanzania Jonas Ewald,2013 Tanzania has been independent in 2011 for 50 years While most neighbouring states have gone through violent conflicts Tanzania has managed to implement extensive reforms without armed political conflicts Hence Tanzania is an interesting case for Peace and Development research This dissertation analyses the political development in Tanzania since the introduction of the multiparty system in 1992 with a focus on the challenges for the democratisation process in connection with the 2000 and 2005 elections The question of to what extent Tanzania had moved towards a consolidation of democracy is analysed by looking at nine different institutions of importance for democratisation grouped in four spheres the state the political civil and economic society Focus is on the development of the political society and the role of the opposition in particular The analysis is based on secondary and primary material collected between September 2000 to April 2010 The main conclusion is that even if the institutions of liberal democracy have gradually developed in practice single party rule has continued manifested in the 2005 election when the CCM won 92% of seats Despite impressive economic growth poverty remains deep and has not been substantially reduced On a theoretical level this brings the old debate between liberal and substantive democracy back to the fore Neither the economic nor the political reforms have brought about a transformation of the political and economic system resulting in the poor majority gaining substantially more political influence and improved economic conditions Hence it is argued that the interface between the economic political and administrative reforms has not been sufficiently considered in the liberal democratic tradition Liberal democracy is necessary for a democratic development but not sufficient for democracy to be consolidated For that a substantive democratic development is necessary

Ensuring Sustainable Development Goals do not Become Rhetoric Aruna Sharma,2025-02-11 Pandemics and economic wars cannot excuse a stagnation in progress towards the Sustainable Development Goals SDG The SDG index has stalled since 2020 and was one full point below the projections in 2022 Only 12% of targets are currently on track Half are facing moderate or severe deviations due to stagnation in the face of multiple crises and 30% more have either stagnated or regressed To ensure that SDGs are not reduced to mere rhetoric like the Millennium Development Goals MDG and to accelerate progress towards the household related goals SDGs 1 to 7 10 11 16 and 17 and develop environmentally friendly sustainable livelihood opportunities SDGs 8 and 9 the strategy has to have specific targets rather than a thin spread of efforts This book argues in favour of a shift to a common household database for each of the countries with real examples of the progress of developed developing and underdeveloped economies towards achieving the SDG goals 1 to 7 10 11 16 and 17
