Post-Jungian Psychology and the Short Stories of Ray Bradbury and Kurt Vonnegut Steve Gronert Ellerhoff, 2016-02-22 In this book Steve Gronert Ellerhoff explores short stories by Ray Bradbury and Kurt Vonnegut written between 1943 and 1968 with a post Jungian approach Drawing upon archetypal theories of myth from Joseph Campbell James Hillman and their forbearer C G Jung Ellerhoff demonstrates how short fiction follows archetypal patterns that can illuminate our understanding of the authors their times and their culture In practice a post Jungian methodology is shown to yield great insights for the literary criticism of short fiction Chapters in this volume carefully contextualise and historicize each story including Bradbury and Vonnegut s earliest and most imaginatively fantastic works The archetypal constellations shaping Vonnegut s early works are shown to be war and fragmentation while those in Bradbury s are family and the wholeness of the sun Analysis is complemented by the explored significance of illustrations that featured alongside the stories in their first publications By uncovering the ways these popular writers redressed old myths in new tropes and coined

new narrative elements for hopes and fears born of their era the book reveals a fresh method which can be applied to all imaginative short stories increasing understanding and critical engagement Post Jungian Psychology and the Short Stories of Ray Bradbury and Kurt Vonnegut is an important text for a number of fields from Jungian and Post Jungian studies to short story theories and American studies to Bradbury and Vonnegut studies Scholars and students of literature will come away with a renewed appreciation for an archetypal approach to criticism while the book will also be of great interest to practising depth psychologists seeking to incorporate short stories into therapy Fixing the Sky James Rodger Fleming, 2010-08-13 Weaving together stories from elite science cutting edge technology and popular culture Fleming examines issues of health and navigation in the 1830s drought in the 1890s aircraft safety in the 1930s and world conflict since the 1940s Nuclear Fictions Michael Gardiner, 2024-11-30 In this book Michael Gardiner suggests that the conception of the war ending weapon was tied up with a longer commitment to unified space and singular progress The mission for total weapons can be seen rising with the highly technical defensive war of the later nineteenth century and passing through twentieth century atomic research then the targeting of the outsiders of commercial empire and the post war consensus with deterrence as its foundation The end of the Cold War brought an opportunity to fully naturalise deterrence but also brought a tacit acceptance of nuclear violence while forms of violence against the individual were rigorously sought out If the world unifying role of deterrence has always been undermined by the rise of rival empires it has also been questioned by critical communities including the consensus sceptics of the 1950s 60s 1980s 90s Nuclear Criticism and readers of nuclearism millennial campaigns for Scottish independence and twenty first century descriptions of nuclear colonialism Recently it has become more obvious that an Anglosphere concept of worldly deterrence was bound to a singular and ultimately nihilistic idea of progress bio Michael Gardiner is Professor in the Department of English and Comparative Literature at the University of Warwick Socratic Seminars in the Block Wanda H.
