Repressed Spaces The Poetics Of Agoraphobia:

Repressed Spaces Paul Carter, 2004-11-02 In Repressed Spaces Paul Carter tours the cultural history of agoraphobia the fear of open space Its symptoms were first described in The Anatomy of Melancholy 1621 by Robert Burton the British scholar and writer although it wasn't until 1871 that Carl Otto Westphal coined the term to describe several of his patients who experienced severe anxiety when walking through streets or squares There have been many attempts to explain and treat the condition critics of modernization have linked it to bad city planning psychoanalysts calling it street panic have blamed it on the Oedipus complex psychiatrists have tied it to existential insecurity and describe it as the fear of places or situations that have triggered panic attacks Freud believed that agoraphobia like all phobias was part of an anxiety neurosis and had a sexual origin Taking as his starting point the fact that Freud himself was agoraphobic and analyzing the way people have negotiated open spaces from Greek and Roman times to the present day Paul Carter finds that space fear ultimately results from the inhibition of movement Along the way the author asks why Freud repressed his agoraphobia and examines literature the work of architects and theorists including Le Corbusier Walter Benjamin and R D Laing artists such as Munch Lapique and Giacometti and the German street films of the 1920s He concludes by proposing a new way of regarding open space a new poetics of agoraphobia one that is sensitive to the agoraphobe's point of view and provides lessons for architects and urban planners today

The SAGE Handbook of Social Geographies Susan Smith, 2010 With clarity and confidence this vibrant volume summons up the social in geography in ways that will excite students and scholars alike Here the social is populated not only by society but by culture nature economy and politics Kay Anderson University of Western Sydney This is a remarkable collection full of intellectual gems It not only summarises the field of social geography and restates its importance but also produces a manifesto for how the field should look in the future Nigel Thrift Vice Chancellor University of Warwick The book aims to be accessible to students and specialists alike Its success lies in emphasizing the crossovers between geography and social studies The good editorial work is evident and the participating contributors are well established scholars in their respective fields Miron M Denan Geography Research Forum An excellent handbook that will attract a diversity of readers It will inspire undergraduate postgraduate students and stimulate lecturers researchers interested in the complexity and diversity of the social realm As the first of its kind in the sub discipline it is a book that is enjoyable to read and will definitely add value to a personal or library collection Michele Lobo New Zealand Geographer The social relations of difference from race and class to gender and inequality are at the heart of the concept of social geography This handbook reconsiders and redirects research in the discipline while examining the changing ideas of individuals and their relationship with structures of power Organised into five sections the SAGE Handbook of Social Geographies maps out the connections anchored in social geography Difference and Diversity builds on enduring ideas of the structuring of social relations and examines the ruptures and rifts and continuities and connections around social divisions Geographies and Social Economies rethinks the sociality subjectivity and placement of money markets price and value Geographies of Wellbeing builds from a foundation of work on the spaces of fear anxiety and disease towards newer concerns with geographies of health resilience and contentment Geographies of Social Justice connects ideas through an examination of the possibilities and practicalities of normative theory and frames the central notion of Social geography that things always could and should be different Doing Social Geography is not exploring the how to of research but rather the entanglement of it with practicalities moralities and politics This will be an essential resource for academics researchers practitioners and postgraduates across human geography Twenty-First-Century British Fiction and the City Magali Cornier Michael, 2018-07-18 The essays in this edited collection offer incisive and nuanced analyses of and insights into the state of British cities and urban environments in the twenty first century Britain s experiences with industrialization colonialism post colonialism global capitalism and the European Union EU have had a marked influence on British ideas about and British literature s depiction of the city and urban contexts Recent British fiction focuses in particular on cities as intertwined with globalization and global capitalism including the proliferation of media and with issues of immigration and migration Indeed decolonization has brought large numbers of people from former colonies to Britain thus making British cities ever more diverse Such mixing of peoples in urban areas has led to both racist fears and possibilities of cosmopolitan co existence Elizabeth Bowen Gildersleeve Jessica Gildersleeve, 2019-08-28 Explores Elizabeth Bowen s significant contribution to twentieth century literary theory Provides new avenues for research in Bowen studies in ways that are concerned primarily with Bowen s perception of writing and narrative Moves away from perceptions of Bowen s writing tied to existing ideological categories such as viewing her work through a lens of psychoanalysis modernism or Irish or British history and which emphasise Bowen's innovation not as central to our understanding of the changes happening in twentieth century literature and history but as instead a point of difficulty. Recognises Bowen's innovation, experimentation and her impact on her contemporaries and literary descendants. From experiments in language and identity to innovations in the novel, the short story and life narratives, the contributors discuss the way in which Bowen's work straddles, informs and defies the existing definitions of modernist and postmodernist literature which dominate twentieth century writing. The eleven chapters present new scholarship on Bowen's inventiveness and unique writing style and attachment to objects covering topics such as queer adolescents, housekeeping, female fetishism, habit and new technologies such as the telephone. Cinema, Suffering and Psychoanalysis Laura Stephenson, 2023-12-14

Cinema Suffering and Psychoanalysis explores psychological disorder as common to the human condition using a unique three-angled approach: psychoanalysis recognises the inherent suffering encountered by each subject due to developmental phases; psychology applies specific categorisation to how this suffering manifests; cinema depicts suffering through a combination of video and aural elements. Functioning as a culturally reflexive medium, the six feature films analysed, including Black Swan (2010) and The Machinist (2004), represent some of the most common psychological disorders and lived experiences of the contemporary era. This book enters uncharted terrain in cinema scholarship by combining clinical psychology's Diagnostic and Statistical Manual (DSM-V) to organise and diagnose each character and psychoanalysis to track the origin, mechanism and affect of the psychological disorder within the narrative trajectory of each film. Lacan's theories on the infantile mirror phase, the Imaginary and the Symbolic; Erikson's theories on the Real, the big Other and the Event; and Kristeva's theories on abjection and melancholia work in combination with the DSM's classification of symptoms to interpret six contemporary pieces of cinema. By taking into consideration that origin, mechanism, affect and symptomatology are part of an interconnected group, this book explores psychological disorder as part of the human condition, something which contributes to and informs personal identity. More specifically, this research refutes the notion that psychological disorder and psychological health exist as a binary, instead recognising that what has traditionally been pathologised may instead be viewed as variations on human identity. Loose Space Karen Franck, Quentin Stevens, 2006-10-16

In cities around the world, people use a variety of public spaces to relax, to protest, to buy and sell, to experiment and to celebrate. Loose Space explores the many ways that urban residents, with creativity and determination, appropriate public space to meet their own needs and desires. Familiar or unexpected, spontaneous or planned, momentary or long-lasting, the activities that make urban space loose continue to give cities life and vitality. The book examines physical spaces and how people use them. Contributors discuss a wide range of recreational, commercial and political activities; some are conventional, others are more experimental. Some of the activities occur alongside the intended uses of planned public spaces such as sidewalks and plazas; other activities replace former uses, as in abandoned warehouses and industrial sites. The thirteen case studies, international in
