Dialogues in Middle Level Education Research Volume 2 David C. Virtue, 2023-04-28 This book echoes and enhances the generative dialogic knowledge building process that took place at the AMLE 2021 conference reflecting the way in which middle level researchers work collaboratively and draw ideas and inspiration for their studies from prior research and accounts of practice as well as their own experiences in the field Each of the five sections features a recent study presented at the roundtable session at the 2021 AMLE conference accompanied by two companion pieces offering different perspectives on the work In the latter the authors enrich and extend the original research by incorporating feedback from the conference session discussions revisiting their findings and conclusions considering alternative approaches to further research and proposing new or clarified implications for practice Addressing themes across theoretical frameworks and diversity of research design and with topics ranging from music education to teacher agency and the productive struggle the volume crucially presents and discusses recent innovations in the field with a view to prompting future research questions and deeper inquiry As such it will benefit researchers doctoral students and academics in the fields of middle level education educational research and specifically research methods in education Those interested in teaching and learning and adolescent development more broadly will also benefit from this volume

How to Create and Use Rubrics for Formative Assessment and Grading Susan M. Brookhart, 2013-01-11 What is a rubric A rubric is a coherent set of criteria for student work that describes levels of performance quality Sounds simple enough right Unfortunately rubrics are commonly misunderstood and misused The good news is that when rubrics are created and used correctly they are strong tools that support and enhance classroom instruction and student learning In this comprehensive guide author Susan M Brookhart identifies two essential components of effective rubrics 1 criteria that relate to the learning not the tasks that students are being asked to demonstrate and 2 clear descriptions of performance across a continuum of quality She outlines the difference between various kinds of rubrics for example general versus task specific and analytic versus holistic explains when using each type of rubric is appropriate and highlights examples from all grade levels and assorted content areas In addition Brookhart addresses Common misconceptions about rubrics Important differences between rubrics and other assessment tools such as checklists and rating scales and when such alternatives can be useful and How to use rubrics for formative assessment and grading including standards based grading and report card grades Intended for educators who are already familiar with rubrics as well as those who are not this book is a complete resource for writing effective rubrics and for choosing wisely from among the many rubrics that are available on the Internet and from other sources And it makes the case that rubrics when used appropriately can improve outcomes by helping teachers teach and helping students learn

Moore, 2004 Active Teaching and Active Learning Strategies Creating a Blueprint for Success is the cumulative result of a year of reflecting asking and listening to questions and comments that many have concerning the education of our youth The book s genesis however started many years ago as the state of California along with many other states embraced a standards based accountability system This accountability has now been coupled with the recent addition of The No Child Left Behind Legislation In a real sense we are entering both the best and worst of times I say this because of the effects of high stakes testing and the requirement that all students reach high levels of proficiency which admittedly are very lofty goals For this to be realized changes will be required in teaching and assessment as well as a more concentrated focus on student learning The instructional design introduced in this book advocates four components academic social collaborative contextual and cognitive developmental These components work in tandem with Active Teaching and Learning Strategies Combined they form a student responsive instructional methodology which optimizes student success and academic achievement We wanted to create a book that demonstrated to those of us in the field of education the value of looking at academic standards with data about our students and reflecting on how this information should influence our choices concerning instructional practices and our perceptions about the students that we are entrusted with The focus of this endeavor is to see all students achieve and succeed and to keep passion and compassion at the heart of all that we do It is the premise of this book that the difference between effective and outstanding teachers are that outstanding teachers care know how to utilize data practice active teaching strategies and promote the active learning of students Together these characteristics became the design and course of action that Created a Blueprint for Success

Research in Education ,1974 Learning and Doing Policy Analysis in Education: Examining Diverse Approaches to Increasing Educational Access Maria Teresa Tatto,Justin Bruner,Fida Hussain Chang,Corvell George Cramfield,Tara Miyoko Kintz,Nai-Cheng Kuo,Sandra Kurtti Pylvainen,Andleeb Sharif,2012-09-17 This book originated in a policy analysis class at Michigan State University taught during 2010 Using Professor Tatto s unique approach to teaching policy analysis the professor and students agreed to construct a class that represented a reflective and grounded experience in the policy analysis of a current and relevant issue with global ramifications we began exploring policies that were developed at the global level and that were implemented locally We investigated the surge of globally developed standards and regulations in an effort to improve education Our goal was to learn cross nationally about policies that seek to reform curriculum and instruction under efficiency and global competitiveness arguments such as Education for All EFA and its USA cousin No Child Left Behind NCLB We knew our work would be bounded by the time available in a one semester class and by resource constraints We did exploratory inquiry supported by literature reviews reports on rigorous research studies and in one case an exploratory case study The policies we chose to explore such as EFA and NCLB offered us the opportunity to examine current reform tendencies that are intended to provide access to quality education for all children the preparation of teachers to support diverse populations the organization of schools to accommodate these children in response to vague policy mandates and power issues affecting the different constituencies and stakeholders The effects of these and other policies were difficult to track because research is scant and decisions are frequently made based on ideology or political persuasion Our purpose was to explore the critical issues that originated such policies and to search for documented evidence regarding policy implementation and effectiveness We investigated the factors that seemed to interfere with successful implementation from conceptual theoretical and methodological perspectives In this class we learned thatthere are not ready set frameworks for policy analysis but rather that these have to be constructed according to the issues that emerge as policies are conceptualized and implemented to fit local contexts and needs The book pays particular attention to the contexts of policy including the evolving conceptualization of global and local systems of governance knowledge regimes and policy spaces The book is designed for faculty and doctoral students in education who are interested in understanding diverse frameworks for policy analysis and for those in the general public who are interested in the policies we analyze here

Handbook of Research on Writing Instruction Practices for Equitable and Effective Teaching Hodges, Tracey S.,2022-05-27 Writing is a critical component for teaching children about advocacy and empowering student voice as well as an essential tool for learning in many disciplines Yet writing instruction in schools often focuses on traditional methods such as the composition of five paragraph essays or the adherence to proper grammatical conventions While these are two components of writing instruction and preparation in education they only provide a small glimpse into the depth and breadth of writing As such writing instruction is increasingly complex and requires multiple perspectives and levels of skill among teachers The Handbook of Research on Writing Instruction Practices for Equitable and Effective Teaching serves as a comprehensive reference of issues related to writing instruction and leading research about perspectives methods and approaches for equitable and effective writing instruction It includes practices beyond K 12 including best writing practices at the college level as well as the development of future teachers Providing unique coverage on culturally relevant writing socio and racio linguistic justice and urgent writing pedagogies this major reference work is an indispensable resource for administrators and educators of both K 12 and higher education pre service teachers teacher educators libraries government officials researchers and academicians
