1. Introduction

The aim of this research guide is to give an introduction to some of the main debates regarding internal displacement. Although the guide concentrates on conflict induced internal displacement, causes of internal displacement are extremely complex and the displacement of populations due to environmental change, natural disasters, and development projects is often interlinked with and simultaneous to conflicts causing the forced movement of people (Banerjee et al. 2005, Birkeland 2003a,b, Cernea and McDowell 2000, Haug 2003, Lund 2003, Muggah 2003, Qadem 2005).

It is easy when discussing internal displacement to fall into an instrumental language and deal only with concepts, definitions and categories. This research guide aims to summarise the challenge of internal displacement at a policy level, but also to address its social consequences and explore the experiences of many internally displaced persons (IDPs) of physical dislocation, separation from everyday practices and familiar environments, social disruption and material dispossession.

Georgian Internally Displaced People Hazar Ege Gürsoy Erdenay, 2025-02-27 This book explores the construction of Internally Displaced Persons IDPs identity as a social group in Georgia framed through Tajfel and Turner s Social Identity Theory It examines the key factors shaping the identity of Georgian IDPs displaced by ethnic conflicts in two major migration waves the early 1990s and 2008 from Abkhazia and South Ossetia Divided into two parts the study first looks at the historical context of the ethnic conflicts and the state's responses to displacement. The second part focuses on the formation of IDP identity analyzing how external definitions by the host community have perpetuated devaluation throughout the post Soviet period. It also highlights the self-perceptions, characteristics and tactics that have helped transform IDP identity from a devalued label to a more positive and resilient social identity.

The Oxford Handbook of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, Gil Loescher, Katy Long, Nando Sigona, 2014-06-12. Refugee and Forced Migration Studies has grown from being a concern of a relatively small number of scholars and policy researchers in the 1980s to a global field of interest with thousands of students worldwide studying displacement either from traditional disciplinary perspectives or as a core component of newer programmes across the Humanities and Social and Political Sciences. Today the field encompasses both rigorous academic research which may or may not ultimately inform policy and practice as well as action research focused on advocating in favour of refugees' needs and rights. This authoritative Handbook critically evaluates the birth and development of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies and analyses the key contemporary and future challenges faced by academics and practitioners working with and for forcibly displaced populations around the world. The 52 state-of-the-art chapters written by leading academics, practitioners and policymakers working in universities, research centres, think tanks, NGOs and international organizations provide a comprehensive and cutting-edge overview of the key intellectual, political, social and institutional challenges arising from mass displacement in the world today. The chapters vividly illustrate the vibrant and engaging debates that characterize this rapidly expanding field of research and practice.

The Tsunami of 2004 in Sri Lanka Piers Blaikie, 2013-10-18. This book is based on empirical research in Sri Lanka conducted after the catastrophic tsunami which hit the country in December 2004. The aims of the research have been to develop new knowledge on post-crisis reconstruction and recovery work on how to bridge the knowledge gap between researchers and practitioners as well as trying to use past research experiences from Sri Lanka to learn about the present-day situation. The chapters use a common analytical frame related to the policy narratives of post-tsunami recovery in the shadow of war and deal with housing reconstruction, livelihoods, internally displaced, humanitarian interventions and protracted conflicts. The authors represent various social scientific fields and they have experience from different geographical areas of Sri Lanka. This book was published as a special issue of Norsk Geografisk Tidsskrift.

Climate Change, Disasters, and Internal Displacement in Asia and the Pacific Matthew Scott, Albert Salamanca, 2020-11-15. This book examines how states in eight countries across Asia and the Pacific address internal displacement in the context of disasters and climate change. The Asia and the Pacific region accounts for the majority of global disaster-related displacement but the experience of the millions of individuals displaced differs according to gender, age, ethnicity, disability, caste and so forth and is dependent on the legal, administrative, social and economic structures and processes in place to support them. This book adopts a human rights-based approach investigating the role of law and policy in preventing displacement, protecting people who are displaced and engendering durable solutions across cases drawn from Thailand Cambodia Indonesia the Philippines Nepal Bangladesh Vanuatu and the Solomon Islands The specific cases in the book also reflect critically on the term displacement and the wider normative framework within which this phenomenon is conceptualised and addressed The book will be of interest to students researchers and practitioners working at the intersection of human rights human mobility development disaster risk reduction and management and climate change adaptation
