

Multi-Source Argumentative Research Essay

Purpose:

This assignment provides you with the opportunity to practice using the sources you identified in the Annotated Bibliography assignment to write an essay that both presents and explores a variety of perspectives and research on a significant research question and uses that information to develop your own tentative answer.

This provides practice in the elements of critical thinking such as:

- Identifying and analyzing alternative perspectives,
- Using evidence to support your own position, and
- Articulating underlying assumptions, values and beliefs of different arguments, including your own.

Description:

The deets:

- 7 to 8 pages, 12 point Times, double-spaced
- References at least 7 sources (not limited to the Annotated Bibliography)
- Includes a MLA style Works Cited page
- Uses MLA in-text citation style

Grading Criteria:

Focus

- All of the parts of the essay relate to the research question/main claim.
- The body of the essay develops the writer's position.

Organization

- The introduction engages the audience, provides appropriate background to the issue or question, and makes clear its significance.
- The sections and paragraphs are in a logical, purposeful order that is signaled with clear transitions.
- The paragraphs are unified and cohesive.
- Includes a conclusion that brings closure to the argument.

Support

- Sources are adequately attributed, summarized and evaluated.
- Relationships between sources are explored, if appropriate.
- The writer's position is supported by reasons and evidence.

Correctness

- The surface characteristics meet expectations for college writing.

Writing the Classroom Stephen E. Neaderhiser, 2022-11-21 Writing the Classroom explores how faculty compose and use pedagogical documents to establish classroom expectations and teaching practices as well as to articulate the professional identities they perform both inside and outside the classroom The contributors to this unique collection employ a wide range of methodological frameworks to demonstrate how pedagogical genres even ones as seemingly straightforward as the class syllabus have lives extending well beyond the classroom as they become part of how college teachers represent their own academic identities advocate for pedagogical values and negotiate the many external forces that influence the act of teaching Writing the Classroom shines a light on genres that are often treated as two dimensional with purely functional purposes arguing instead that genres like assignment prompts course proposals teaching statements and policy documents play a fundamental role in constructing the classroom and the broader pedagogical enterprise within academia Writing the Classroom calls on experienced teachers and faculty administrators to critically consider their own engagement with pedagogical genres and offers graduate students and newer faculty insight into the genres that they may only now be learning to inhabit as they seek to establish their personal teacherly identities It showcases the rhetorical complexity of the genres written in the service of pedagogy not only for students but also for the many other audiences within academia that have a role in shaping the experience of teaching Contributors Michael Albright Lora Arduser Lesley Erin Bartlett Logan Bearden Lindsay Clark Dana Comi Zack K De Piero Matt Dowell Amy Ferdinandt Stolley Mark A Hannah Megan Knight Laura R Micciche Cindy Mooty Dustin Morris Kate Navickas Kate Nesbit Jim Nugent Lori A Ostergaard Cynthia Pengilly Jessica Rivera Mueller Christina Saidy Megan Schoen Virginia Schwarz Christopher Toth

Writing Assignments Across University Disciplines Roger Graves, 2017-12-07 Writing Assignments Across the University Curriculum as a whole asks and answers these questions What kinds of documents do students write in a wide range of university degree programs in Canada How do instructors structure those writing assignments That is who is the audience for the assignments Do students get formative feedback as they develop their documents Do the patterns we found in a small liberal arts college Graves Hyland and Samuels 2010 occur in other kinds of universities We took our cue from an article by Anson and Dannels 2009 who pointed us toward the idea that students experience a curriculum through their degree progress in an academic program Consequently we needed to map the writing assignments according to how different departments organized these degree programs Results that were organized by curricular unit departments faculties or colleges or programs units were more significant than general statistics because students would progress through these courses to a degree Several chapters in the book describe how this kind of curricular mapping provided a spark for curricular reform in Engineering Education and an entire small university The last two chapters report on the instructors perspective on their assignments what they were intending to do and why they both resisted and engaged in curricular discussions

,1984 Reading Empirical Research Studies John R. Hayes,Richard E. Young,Michele L. Matchett,Maggie

McCaffrey,Cynthia Cochran,2020-10-07 For the most part those who teach writing and administer writing programs do not conduct research on writing Perhaps more significantly they do not often read the research done by others because effective reading of articles on empirical research requires special knowledge and abilities By and large those responsible for maintaining and improving writing instruction cannot without further training access work that could help them carry out their responsibilities more effectively This book is designed as a text in graduate programs that offer instruction in rhetoric and composition Its primary educational purposes are to provide models and critical methods designed to improve the reading of scientific discourse to provide models of effective research designs and projects appropriate to those learning to do empirical research in rhetoric Aiming to cultivate new attitudes toward empirical research this volume encourages an appreciation of the rhetorical tradition that informs the production and critical reading of empirical studies The book should also reinforce a slowly growing realization in English studies that empirical methods are not inherently alien to the humanities rather that methods extend the power of humanist researchers trying to solve the problems of their discipline
