

Purpose of Writing a Research Paper

Purpose

Focus on a problem or issue, make a logical argument and assert a position. You do not simply want to describe a topic, but critically give thoughts and opinions about it. Clearly state your paper's thesis—the main idea put forth. While drawing on ideas and theories from others in the field who have written about the topic, the purpose should revolve around giving new perspective.

Features

The introduction must alert the reader to the topic. Your thesis should describe an idea, pose a question or outline key issues. In the body of the paper, provide an overview of your key arguments. The conclusion should bring it all together. The goal is not to repeat the introduction. The paper should creatively summarize the thesis and present the reader with a response, or point to gaps in the literature.

Things to Consider

Use MLA format. In order to avoid accusations of plagiarism, you must cite external sources. Finally, always place the works cited or bibliography list for references at the end of the paper.

Misconceptions

Do not write a research paper as a collection of your opinions. For example, a paper about how much you love television is a personal essay rather than a research paper. Instead, after researching the literature on television, you could write a paper on its social impact. A research paper starts with extensive reading, not a casual browsing of literature. If you do not read, you will not know your topic.

Days of My Life Zohair Sebai,2019-10-01 My aim is to present some glimpses into my life What should I say And should I tell everything that there is to be told That is impossible because we all have areas of our lives that we would rather keep to ourselves and not share with anyone else A human being is a mystery Therefore I cannot claim that my writing will be characterized by objectivity How objective can one be when talking about oneself I can easily state that the reason for writing my story is to shed some light on my experiences in life the sweet with the bitter may serve as valuable lessons for the youth What is more difficult is to admit that writing my story is actually a personal journey to self discovery This story can be split into different stages growing up in Makkah my education and travels in Egypt Germany and America and finally my struggle up the career ladder My deep appreciation goes to Mrs Amal Sebai and Mrs Mercy Larbi for translating the book into English ITF
