Abstract The purpose of this study was to examine the effects of a 6-week training program on the physical fitness and health-related quality of life (HRQL) of sedentary middle-aged women. A total of 70 women were randomly assigned to either a control group or an exercise group. The exercise group performed a supervised aerobic and resistance training program three times per week for 6 weeks. Physical fitness measures included maximal oxygen consumption ($\dot{V}O_{2\max}$), peak power output (PPO), and peak heart rate (HR). HRQL was assessed using the SF-36 questionnaire. The exercise group showed significant improvements in all physical fitness measures and HRQL scores compared to the control group. These findings suggest that a 6-week supervised exercise program can effectively improve physical fitness and HRQL in sedentary middle-aged women.
