what makes some lives exemplary That imitation here is impossible does not mean one cannot learn from examples The question is How can that be done reasonably how can decisions about how one should live escape being arbitrary if they are left to individual creativity and imagination and are not governed by rules that apply to everyone living in a particular context from The Art of Life The art of life according to John Kekes consists in living a life of personal and moral excellence This art requires continuous creative effort drawing on one's character circumstances experiences and ideals Since these conditions vary with times and places Kekes says there can be no single blueprint for the achievement of excellence We must do it ourselves but we can learn from those who have lived exemplary lives Reflecting on lives of integrity and honor Kekes formulates what we can learn from them and what we can do to adapt the ideals they represent to our personal circumstances Avoiding both the abstractness that characterizes much moral thought and the relativism that recognizes no rational or moral limits Kekes shows how serious philosophical thinking can be readable and helpful to those who struggle with the perennial problems of human existence
