Logical Foundations of Database Transformations for Complex-Value Databases Qing Wang, 2010 Database transformations consist of queries and updates which are two fundamental types of computations in any databases the first provides the capability to retrieve data and the second is used to maintain databases in light of ever changing application domains This dissertation aims to lay down the foundations for establishing a theoretical framework of database transformations in the context of complex value databases The previous findings reveal that it is very difficult to characterise common features of database queries and updates in a way which is meaningful for further investigations Nevertheless the advent of the sequential Abstract State Machine ASM thesis capturing sequential algorithms sheds light on the study of database transformations Observing that the class of computations described by database transformations may be formalised as algorithms respecting database principles we propose the database ASM thesis for a complete characterisation of database transformations It turns out that every
