Innovation in Legacy Sectors William B. Bonvillian, Charles Weiss, 2015-08-18 The American economy faces two deep problems expanding innovation and raising the rate of quality job creation Both have roots in a neglected problem the resistance of Legacy economic sectors to innovation While the U S has focused its policies on breakthrough innovations to create new economic frontiers like information technology and biotechnology most of its economy is locked into Legacy sectors defended by technological economic political social paradigms that block competition from disruptive innovations that could challenge their models Americans like to build technology covered wagons and take them out west to open new innovation frontiers we don't head our wagons back east to bring innovation to our Legacy sectors By failing to do so the economy misses a major opportunity for innovation which is the bedrock of U S competitiveness and its standard of living Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors uses a new unifying conceptual framework to identify the shared features underlying structural obstacles to innovation in major Legacy sectors energy air and auto transport the electric power grid buildings manufacturing agriculture health care delivery and higher education and develops approaches to understand and transform them It finds both strengths and obstacles to innovation in the national innovation environments a new concept that combines the innovation system and the broader innovation context for a group of Asian and European economies Manufacturing is a major Legacy sector that presents a particular challenge because it is a critical stage in the innovation process By increasingly offshoring production the U S is losing important parts of its innovation capacity Innovate here produce here where the U S took all the gains of its strong innovation system at every stage is being replaced by innovate here produce there which threatens to lead to produce there innovate there To bring innovation to Legacy sectors authors William Bonvillian and Charles Weiss recommend that policymakers focus on all stages of innovation from research through implementation They should fill institutional gaps in the innovation system and take measures to address structural obstacles to needed disruptive innovations In the specific case of advanced manufacturing the production ecosystem can be recreated to reverse jobless innovation and add manufacturing led innovation to the U S's still strong research oriented innovation system

New Horizons For Second-order Cybernetics Alexander Riegler, Karl H Muller, Stuart A Umpleby, 2017-09-15 In almost 60 articles this book reviews the current state of second order cybernetics and investigates which new research methods second order cybernetics can offer to tackle wicked problems in science and in society The contributions explore its application to both scientific fields such as mathematics psychology and consciousness research and non scientific ones such as design theory and theater science The book uses a pluralistic multifaceted approach to discuss these applications Each main article is accompanied by several commentaries and author responses which together allow the reader to discover further perspectives than in the original article alone This procedure shows that second order cybernetics is already on its way to becoming an idea shared by many researchers in a variety of disciplines

Liemohn,McArthur Jones,Xochitl Blanco-Cano,John Coxon,Alexa Jean Halford,Chigomezoyo Ngwira,2023-10-27 Climate Change Adaptation and Development Tor Håkon Inderberg,Siri Eriksen,Karen O'Brien,Linda Sygna,2014-11-20 Climate change poses multiple challenges to development It affects lives and livelihoods infrastructure and institutions as well as beliefs cultures and identities There is a growing recognition that the social dimensions of vulnerability and adaptation now need to move to the forefront of development policies and practices This book presents case studies showing that climate change is as much a problem of development as for development with many of the risks closely linked to past present and future development pathways Development policies and practices can play a key role in addressing climate change but it is critical to question to what extent such actions and interventions reproduce rather than address the social and political structures and development pathways driving vulnerability The chapters emphasise that adaptation is about much more than a set of projects or interventions to reduce specific impacts of climate change it is about living with change while also transforming the processes that contribute to vulnerability in the first place This book will help students in the field of climate change and development to make sense of adaptation as a social process and it will provide practitioners policymakers and researchers working at the interface between climate change and development with useful insights for approaching adaptation as part of a larger transformation to sustainability Techno-Vernacular Creativity and Innovation Nettrice R. Gaskins,2021-08-10 A novel approach to STEAM learning that engages students from historically marginalized communities in culturally relevant and inclusive maker education The growing maker movement in education has become an integral part of both STEM and STEAM learning tapping into the natural DIY inclinations of creative people as well as the educational power of inventing or making things And yet African American Latino a American and Indigenous people are underrepresented in maker culture and education In this book Nettrice Gaskins proposes a novel approach to STEAM learning that engages students from historically marginalized communities in culturally relevant and inclusive maker education Techno vernacular creativity TVC connects technical literacy equity and culture encompassing creative innovations produced by ethnic groups that are often overlooked TVC uses three main modes of activity reappropriation remixing and improvisation Gaskins looks at each of the three modes in turn guiding readers from research into practice Drawing on real world examples she shows how TVC creates dynamic learning environments where underrepresented ethnic students feel that they belong Students who remix computationally for instance have larger toolkits of computational skills with which to connect cultural practices to STEAM subjects reappropriation offers a way to navigate cultural repertoires improvisation is firmly rooted in cultural and creative practices Finally Gaskins explores an equity oriented approach that makes a distinction between conventional or dominant pedagogical approaches and culturally relevant or responsive making methods and practices She describes TVC habits of mind and suggests methods of instructions and projects Dual-use life science

Vogel, Amanda Jane Ozin, 2015-06-04 In September 2011 scientists announced new experimental findings that would not only threaten the conduct and publication of influenza research but would have significant policy and intelligence implications The findings presented a modified variant of the H5N1 avian influenza virus hereafter referred to as the H5N1 virus that was transmissible via aerosol between ferrets These results suggested a worrisome possibility the existence of a new airborne and highly lethal H5N1 virus that could cause a deadly global pandemic In response a series of international discussions on the nature of dual use life science arose These discussions addressed the complex social technical political security and ethical issues related to dual use research This Research Topic will be devoted to contributions that explore this matrix of issues from a variety of case study and international perspectives Datapolis Paul Cournet, Negar Sanaan Bensi, 2024-02-05 DATAPOLIS looks into the materiality of data its inherent ethical and political contradictions as well as cultural and environmental footprints by following two main trajectories the first one attempts to define what the cloud is and how it operates From the systems and infrastructures behind the Internet to the apparatus gizmos and buildings that can transcend scales and temporal dimensions The second one explores how data penetrates our existence not only by affecting the ways we live and work or design and make cities but by offering distinct ways of life and organization that otherwise would not have been possible Through various visual and textual materials this book speculates on the ways in which architecture can engage with data and digital technology beyond its mere instrumental use in making smart cities DATAPOLIS is edited by Paul Cournet and Negar Sanaan Bensi With contributions by Kees Kaan Kate Crawford Shannon Mattern Ruha Benjamin Marina Otero Verzier and Joost Grootens a o The most complete version of this work was published in 2023 by nai010 Investigation of the modalities for an innovative financing mechanism for participatory natural resource management in the Bale Eco-region, Ethiopia Hagos, Fitsum, van Rooijen, Daniel, Hailelassie, Amare, Yehualashet, H., Indries, H., 2018-12-11 Insurance, Climate Change and the Law Franziska Arnold-Dwyer, 2024-04-03 The insurance industry has found itself at the front line of climate change challenges providing insurance cover in relation to risks associated with climate change As risk carriers insurers pay claims for climate change related losses such as property damage caused by windstorms flooding and wildfires which have been increasing in frequency and severity As major institutional investors insurance companies invest in assets that may be increasingly vulnerable to climate risks Insurance regulators across the globe have therefore started to require insurance companies to identify manage and report on climate change risks that could pose a threat to their financial stability However managing and reporting on the effect of climate risk on an insurer's balance sheet is an inward looking perspective that does not stem climate change It needs to be paired with an outward looking perspective that takes account of the insurance industry's impact on the environment and the insurance industry's capacity to influence what policyholders investee enterprises and other business partners do to address climate change challenges For the insurance industry the key components of positive outward impact are impact underwriting and impact investment This book sets out the current legal and regulatory landscape for impact underwriting and impact investment Whilst the focus of research and regulatory interventions to date has been on inward impact in this book it will be argued that to take positive climate action that supports the Paris Agreement goals and the national and international Net Zero targets the debate should now move on to considering the positive outward impact the insurance industry can make and how we can create a legal environment to facilitate this The book puts forward the case for a new vision of the role of the insurance industry as climate action enablers and makes proposals for insurance products and risk transfer and loss resilience structures that can support policyholders in their transition to a Net Zero economy The audience for this book will include legal practitioners insurance industry professionals financial and insurance regulators policymakers and interested academics

Morphological Plant Modeling: Unleashing Geometric and Topological Potential within the Plant Sciences Alexander Bucksch, Dan Chitwood, 2017-10-13 An increasing population faces the growing demand for agricultural products and accurate global climate models that account for individual plant morphologies to predict favorable human habitat Both demands are rooted in an improved understanding of the mechanistic origins of plant development Such understanding requires geometric and topological descriptors to characterize the phenotype of plants and its link to genotypes However the current plant phenotyping framework relies on simple length and diameter measurements which fail to capture the exquisite architecture of plants The Research Topic Morphological Plant Modeling Unleashing Geometric and Topological Potential within the Plant Sciences is the result of a workshop held at National Institute for Mathematical and Biological Synthesis NIMBioS in Knoxville Tennessee From 2-4 September 2015 over 40 scientists from mathematics computer science engineering physics and biology came together to set new frontiers in combining plant phenotyping with recent results from shape theory at the interface of geometry and topology In doing so the Research Topic synthesizes the views from multiple disciplines to reveal the potential of new mathematical concepts to analyze and quantify the relationship between morphological plant features As such the Research Topic bundles examples of new mathematical techniques including persistent homology graph theory and shape statistics to tackle questions in crop breeding developmental biology and vegetation modeling The challenge to model plant morphology under field conditions is a central theme of the included papers to address the problems of climate change and food security that require the integration of plant biology and mathematics from geometry and topology research applied to imaging and simulation techniques The introductory white paper written by the workshop participants identifies future directions in research education and policy making to integrate biological and mathematical approaches and to strengthen research at the interface of both disciplines The Adaptive
