A Legacy of

Exploitation Susan Dianne Brophy, 2022-05-15 It is unlikely that buyers of the Hudson's Bay Company's iconic multistripe point blanket these days reflect on the historically exploitative relationship between the company and Indigenous producers. This critical re-evaluation of the company's first planned settlement at Red River uncovers that history. As a settler colonialist project par excellence, the Red River Colony was designed to undercut Indigenous peoples' troublesome autonomy and better control their labour. Susan Dianne Brophy upends standard historical portrayals by foregrounding Indigenous peoples' autonomy as a driving force of change. A Legacy of Exploitation offers a comprehensive account of legal, economic and geopolitical relations to show how autonomy can become distorted as complicity in processes of dispossession. Ultimately, this book challenges enduring yet misleading national fantasies about Canada as a nation of bold adventurers. Finance Law Stephen Connelly, 2025-06-16 For the student who wishes to understand law as it is practised in a modern financial context, Finance Law offers the only up-to-date university-level textbook which explains legal principles as they are applied in today's advanced financial transactions. Essential for any student or researcher seeking an introduction to this complex and fast-moving world, this text is based on the author's extensive teaching experience in finance law. It covers the modern form of credit facilities, agreements, security, syndication, securities and securitization, derivatives and payment and clearing systems. It is packed with interesting case studies, including the Mozambique Tuna Bond Scandal, the takeover of Manchester United plc and the securitization of student loans. It motivates study with theoretical discussions and historical contextualisation, explains key transaction structures such as investment grade lending to groups, intercreditor agreements, interest rate swaps and multilateral payment systems, grants insight into key legal principles and structuring applicable to trillion-dollar deals across the globe. It is written by a structured finance practitioner and academic with extensive post-qualification experience of advising lenders, corporate borrowers and sovereigns on international finance. Designed for final-year undergraduates and LLM students, Finance Law is not only the perfect accompaniment to any finance module but can support any advanced programme on insolvency law, mergers and acquisitions, M&A, corporate governance, international economic law and more.

People - Marine Mammal Interactions Andrew Butterworth, Mark P. Simmonds, 2017-08-15 Our relationships with marine mammals are complex. We have used them as resources and in some places this remains the case. Viewed as competitors and culled, they have again, in some localities, been so captivated and intrigued by them that we have taken them into captivity for our entertainment and developed a lucrative eco-tourism activity focused on them in many nations. When we first envisaged this special topic, we had two overarching aims. Firstly, we hoped to generate critical evaluation of some of our relationships with these animals. Secondly, we hoped to attract knowledgeable commentators and experts who might not traditionally publish in the peer-reviewed literature. We were also asking ourselves a question about what responsibility mankind might have to marine mammals on our rapidly changing planet. The answer to the question can or should humans have responsibility for the lives of marine mammals when they are affected by our activities is in our opinion yes and the logical progression from this question is to direct research and effort to understand and optimise the actions reactions and responses that mankind may be able to take We hope that the papers in this special issue bring some illumination to a small selection of topics under this much wider topic area and prove to be informative and stimulating
