Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1996 Society in the Self Hubert J. M. Hermans, 2018-03-09 Instead of considering society as a social environment Society in the Self begins from the assumption that society works in the deepest regions of self and identity as expressed in phenomena like self sabotage self radicalization self cure self government self nationalization and self internationalization This leads to the central thesis that a democratic society can only function properly if it is populated by participants with a democratically organized self In this book an integrative model is presented that is inspired by three versions of democracy cosmopolitan deliberative and agonistic democracy with the latter focusing on the role of social power and emotions Drawing on these democratic views three levels of inclusiveness are distinguished in the self personal I as an individual social I as a member of a group and global I as a human being A democratic self requires the flexibility of moving up and down across these levels of inclusiveness and has to find its way in fields of tension between the self and the other and between dialogue and social power As author Hubert Hermans explains this theory has far reaching consequences for such divergent topics as leadership in the self cultural diversity in the self the relationship between reason and emotion self empathy cooperation and competition between self parts and the role of social power in prejudice enemy image construction and scapegoating The central message of this book is reflected in Mahatma Gandhi's dictum Be the change you want to see in the world
